Introducing F-Series Solid proof Ford cares

It's not enough for Ford to say it's watching out for you wherever, whenever you travel.

Now, owners* of the new 1993 full-size Ford pickup can see real proof that Ford cares.

Now, Ford offers F-Series Preferred Care.

Call on Ford anytime. From anywhere.

It's not an extended warranty. Not a costly "extra." It's something special for everyone.

Preferred Care is a plan that lets 1993 F-Series owners call Ford's Roadside Assistance Number day or night, from any location, for help with virtually any problem, even problems as small as a flat tire, an empty tank, a key locked inside.

If warranty repairs require overnight or longer servicing, Ford will provide a loaner vehicle, or rental allowance. If your vehicle is disabled due to collision or warrantable repair more than one hundred miles from home, you can get up to $1000 total travel reimbursement for up to three days.

No charges. No fine print.

Preferred Care is free of complications. In fact, it's altogether free.

During the lifetime of the plan (3 yrs/ 36,000 miles), any covered assistance you need is compliments of Ford.

*Applies only to retail non-fleet buyers.
Certain benefits or services provided by Ford Auto Club.
Best-built claim based on an average of consumer-reported problems in a series of surveys of all '81-'92 models designed and built in North America.

Preferred Care. about its customers.

A good thing. But hardly the only thing. The best never rest.

Ford never stops looking for new ways to build in even more innovations, comfort, durability and, above all, more quality into every truck.

Number one in quality. For 12 years.

When over 14,000 truck owners—the toughest critics going—judged Ford and competitive trucks, they said the full-size Ford is best in quality over every other truck in this class.

In fact, it's been rated number one for twelve years straight.

That and new Preferred Care do more than suggest Ford cares about its customers.

It's solid proof.

TV GUIDE

PRESENTS 40 YEARS OF

THE BEST

With this issue, TV GUIDE celebrates 40 years of publishing what was the first, and is still the only, national television magazine. How to observe that anniversary?

We went with the boldest idea, the one that seemed not only challenging, but nearly impossible: to select the best of 40 years of television. And that's what you'll find here: our choices of the best sitcom, the best drama, the best cop show, and so on through 20-plus categories. Did we argue? You bet. Was blood spilled? Well... almost. In each category, we've chosen what we editors agreed—sometimes barely!—is the best entry for each decade, followed by our pick of an all-time "Best."

Was Gunsmoke better than Bonanza? Is Oprah better than Phil? Who's the all-time best comic actor on TV? We don't expect you, our readers, to agree with all of our choices; most of the fun is in the argument. In that cheerfully chaotic process, you get to think back over years of TV entertainment—the shows you loved as a kid, the comic performers who made you laugh, the talk-show host who put a funny spin on the events of the day.

About our criteria: the choices of performers speak for themselves; but when it came to shows, we weren't thinking about ratings or popularity. The Love Boat and ALF were popular, but they didn't win any prizes when we looked at four decades of television. We weighed such factors as the influence and impact of the series, both on the medium of television and on American culture; the show's quality; and whether it has held up over the years.

Of course, TV is also at its "best" when it reacts to major news and draws the country together in moments of national crisis or triumph—the first moon landing, the assassination of JFK, the Challenger disaster, America's hockey win at the 1980 Olympics—but these aren't included here. We concentrated on shows and stars because they are what television itself created and produced, rather than outside events to which it reacted.

Since television is our journalistic reason for existence, we're thrilled to be around, 40 years after the first issue of April 3-9, 1953, to pay tribute to its greatest series and performers. But we wouldn't be here at all if not for our readers, to whom we owe the final gratitude. After all the Bests in this issue, we have to say: Thanks—you're the Best. ■

And your own opinion? These are our choices for TV's all-time best. In next week's issue, you get a chance to vote for your choices: tell us the shows and personalities you'd have picked.

NEAL PETERS COLLECTION

Have a Havana: master mugger Lucy draws a typically shocked look from Vivian Vance*.*

'50s I Love Lucy

Why not The Honeymooners? Both shows are templates for classic TV comedy. Here's the short answer: Lucille Ball. Lucy's comic acting established a model for TV. Consider the classic moment when Lucy stands by a conveyor belt, stuffing chocolates into her mouth and down her dress in a doomed effort to match the pace of the belt. The moment works so brilliantly because of Lucy's unique, telegenic charm—here is a woman in a studio, acting from a script, yet it seemed so real you could have been watching a clip from Candid Camera. I Love Lucy also came first, establishing the very format—interacting neighbors—that was used by The Honeymooners and dozens of comedies since. And it ran years longer. So, with an affectionate bow to Ralph and Alice, it's Lucy we have to love most.

The Petries: Dick Van Dyke and Mary Tyler Moore

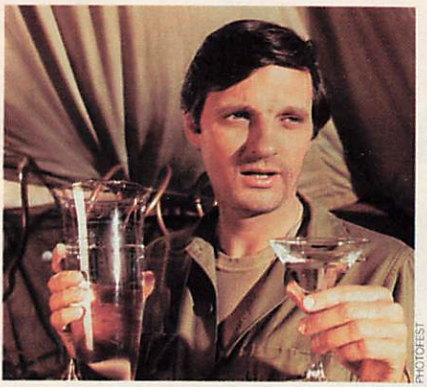
MARIO CASILLI

'60s The Dick Van Dyke Show

Carl Reiner's masterwork of the sitcom art earns the top laurel. Its writing had wit and bite, and the cast, led by the brilliant physical comedian Van Dyke, was perhaps the first great sitcom ensemble. Everybody in the cast got laughs. Usually, they built up to the big payoffs with cleverly timed, multi-leveled bits. For instance: at breakfast with Laura (Mary Tyler Moore), Rob confidently discusses a big meeting he has later that day. She knows he's nervous, but she's too polite to say "Relax." All the while, though, he repeatedly mis-knots his tie; finally, to the point of frustration. For its day (which saw Petticoat Junction and Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C. in the Top 10), this was rather sophisticated. So too was the frequent use of flashbacks. This allowed them to take license with the story and go right over the top. Yet they always landed on their feet… well, except for Van Dyke. But pratfalls don't count.



PHOTOFEST

No olives, but never drab: Alda and Swamp-mates found fun in Korea's funk.

'70s M*A*S*H

Whether it was Trapper and Hawkeye plotting against Frank, or Radar intoning "Ahhh, Bach," *M*A*S*H* always found new ways to charm. For example: recall the time Henry Blake was the unfortunate victim of a bomb in the latrine. The classic payoff—dazed Henry, blackened with soot amid the wreckage, with the toilet seat around his neck, and mouthing the word "boom"—was all the better because of the hilarious buildup. And in addition to the one-liners, sight gags, and character bits that made the show a howl most weeks, *M*A*S*H* also introduced a dramatic subtext appropriate to its setting. Try to imagine someone dying on McHale's Navy—a show that went off the air just six years before *M*A*S*H* began. At the 4077th, patients died and war was definitely hell. Yet amid this adversity, people were often at their best, and funniest. As for its competition? We said The Mary Tyler Moore Show in our heart, and All in the Family in our head, but *M*A*S*H* came right from the gut. It got better throughout the decade —and that is a lamentably rare accomplishment in TV.

'80s Cheers

Show after show, the writers devised the sort of comebacks and one-liners we all wish we'd thought up, but only worked coming out of the character's mouth. Only Diane could tell Sam she hates him "with the white-hot intensity of a thousand bursting suns"; Woody alone could say that Darth Vader couldn't have been Luke Skywalker's dad "because they didn't have the same last name." Who but Norm could get a laugh saying, "Bars are such sad places. Yesterday I sat next to the same guy for 11 hours." These lines work because of Cheers' barroom dynamic—folks who came in to escape life and discovered an entirely separate life. A place where everybody not only knows your name, but your weaknesses, strengths, and sore spots. In other words, a place where you're fair game, although so is everybody else. And that's why it's been good to the last round.

Cheers: Shelley Long and Ted Danson redefined TV-couple chemistry.

GLOBE PHOTOS

ALL-TIME BEST SITCOM

M*A*S*H

Where Lucy created a new comic form for TV, and All in the Family used social issues for comic fodder, *M*A*S*H* did what only the greatest—the classic—comedies do: mix hilarity and tragedy, often in equal measure. *M*A*S*H* made us laugh till we cried. And though its anti-war message occasionally got heavy-handed, it was never at the expense of laughter or character. Like all great sitcoms, it succeeded mainly by exploring, indeed celebrating, the chemistry between the characters. The last episode of *M*A*S*H* was the most-watched program in TV history for good reason. Yes, the final episode of Cheers may yet rival it, but *M*A*S*H* has an underriding urgency to its comedy—it's about life, death, war, and the redeeming grace of humor—that makes it, in our eyes, the best sitcom in history. ■

DRAMAS

'50s PLAYHOUSE 90

If any single drama series epitomizes the quality of the "Golden Age of Television," this is it. There were other outstanding anthologies during the '50s—Studio One, The U.S. Steel Hour, Kraft Television Theatre, G.E. Theater—but CBS's Playhouse 90 set the standard: it was ambitious, classy, and, for its first season, entirely live. Some of the actors: Edward G. Robinson, Helen Hayes, George C. Scott, Anne Bancroft, Peter Lorre. The series made waves: one of its dramas, "The Plot to Kill Stalin," was so provocative that CBS's correspondent was expelled from Moscow. Probably 90's most notable piece was a Rod Serling work, "Requiem for a Heavyweight." Some of the most acclaimed films and stage plays of the time—"The Miracle Worker," "Judgment at Nuremberg," and "Days of Wine and Roses"—started out on Playhouse 90. It was live TV drama at its peak—and we've had nothing like it since.

'60s THE FUGITIVE

The premise, as stated in an ABC press release: "Dr. Richard Kimble, innocent but sentenced to die for the slaying of his wife, is struggling to avoid capture and find the one-armed man he knows committed the crime." As Kimble searches for the one-armed man, he himself is pursued by Lt. Gerard, the officer to whom he'd been handcuffed when he made his escape. The Fugitive's final episode, on Aug. 29, 1967, was a genuine television event: with a 72 percent share of audience, it became the single most watched episode of a regular series in TV history to that point. The series had a complex, sympathetic hero; tension; fresh locations and characters; believable moral dilemmas; and, most of all, David Janssen—an attractive, durable hero who wore well. You never tired of watching Janssen. He died much too young, at 49, in 1980.

David Janssen: perfect for* The Fugitive.

MASTERPIECE THEATRE

'70s Upstairs, Downstairs

Why would several million American viewers care about the aristocratic "upstairs" Bellamys and their underpaid "downstairs" servants in the elegant London townhouse at 165 Eaton Place? Answer: because it was rousing good soap opera, filled with juicy plot turns, marvelous detail, and best of all, great gossip. The episodes were self-contained, the action often delicious. The saucy parlormaid, Sarah, has a secret affair with the Bellamys' son, James (talk about eyebrow-raisers: when she applied for the job, Sarah had the cheek to knock on the mansion's front door); delectable Georgina scandalizes by becoming a "moving pictures" siren. Holding together the household staff were Jean Marsh, the series' co-creator, as Rose, and loyal Hudson, head butler, who somehow managed to be both autocratic and admirable. How important was Upstairs, Downstairs? One critic thought it was "unlikely that commercial TV would have presented Roots if Upstairs, Downstairs had not already broken the ground for quality drama."

'80s St. Elsewhere

That was the staff's derisive nickname for St. Eligius, a seedy Boston hospital. As one doctor said, this was a place you wouldn't send even your mother-in-law to. It was the hospital where a female pathologist liked to make love in the morgue, surrounded by cadavers; where the doctors seemed sicker than the customers; and where, in one memorable episode, the operating-room personnel worked in the buff. But there were amazing moments. Dr. Morrison's young wife is killed in an accident; her heart is used in a transplant, and the episode ends with the unbearably poignant scene of Morrison pressing his head to the chest of the transplant patient—listening to his wife's heart beating. Fans loved St. Elsewhere's vivid characters, literate scripts, offbeat plots, and wry realism. It was as if *M*A*S*H* had married Hill Street Blues—in the morgue, of course.

ALL-TIME BEST
DRAMA

ST. ELSEWHERE

If you were looking for a replay of Marcus Welby, M.D., you'd come to the wrong place. St. Elsewhere drew its inspiration not from traditional medical shows but from "The Hospital," Paddy Chayefsky's biting film satire that starred George C. Scott. St. Elsewhere also had much in common with Hill Street Blues: both used hand-held cameras to achieve a gritty blend of pathos, humor, and slice-of-life realism, and both were from the same studio, MTM Enterprises. And, like Hill Street, St. Elsewhere had dismal ratings during its first season; its renewal by NBC was an act of pure faith. Even worse, the critics loved it—always a dubious sign. But this time they were right. St. Elsewhere turned out to be top-notch TV: an affecting mix of good writing, intense drama, and unpredictable moments, a show with class and smarts. It was what TV drama should be. ■

THE BEST

COMIC ACTOR

'50s Jackie Gleason

He threatened to send Alice to the moon, but it was television comedy that blasted off. His Honeymooners, chronicling everyday ups and downs, spawned a loyal viewership that continues today. He seemed to be born with an understanding of Ralph Kramden, the quixotic dreamer and perpetual loser. During Ralph's unsuccessful run for office in the Raccoons, Gleason gave him a basic dignity beneath the bluster, and made us laugh till we ached. How sweet it was.

'60s Dick Van Dyke

IVAN NAGY

Chevy Chase did pratfalls, but years earlier, Van Dyke's character Rob Petrie tripped over the ottoman every week. His work blended natural subtlety with old-fashioned comedy timing. A wonderful role found its perfect actor in Van Dyke—probably TV's first thinking man's comedian—who was as accomplished at delivering witty lines as he was deft in physical comedy.

'70s Carroll O'Connor

EVERETT COLLECTION

Only in the hands of an actor of O'Connor's sensibilities could the oxymoron "lovable bigot" come to life and keep us watching season after season. He knew when to blow off, when to bully, when to blubber, and he always got a laugh. He walked the tightrope between stereotype and sympathy with enormous skill, never forgetting the human being beneath his character. He knew that we were, after all, only looking at ourselves.

'80s Bob Newhart

JIM MCHUGH

Buttoned-down and quietly hilarious, with Swiss-watch timing: for almost a quarter century and through three major hit shows, Newhart has been self-assured enough to let sublimely eccentric ensemble casts strut their stuff in shows that were popular, thought-provoking, and funny. But his rueful Everyman is the centerpiece of every show he's done—remove it and the laugh center won't hold.

ALL-TIME BEST

JACKIE GLEASON

He was The Great One—in appetite, talent, and girth. (Milton Berle called him "my two favorite comedians.") He could knock everyone else out of a scene just by showing up. Ralph Kramden could have been played as a cartoon, but Gleason made him quintessentially real—and immortal.

'50s LEAVE IT TO BEAVER

Beaver refuses to eat his Brussels sprouts: that was an actual predicament in an episode of Leave It to Beaver, a gentle comedy that has passed into pop myth as an icon of '50s apple-pie normalcy. At the time, its everyday, "real" quality was a radical departure for sitcoms, most of which featured caricatures—the wacky, bumbling wife (I Love Lucy), the cantankerous patriarch (Life with Father), the babbling mother-in-law (December Bride). This series, unlike most, was built around events that could actually happen. Beaver's innocence seems almost comically unreal today, but it was genuine enough for its time, and it was what set the show apart.

'60s THE DONNA REED SHOW

Even Donna Reed used to describe her show as "a sort of Mother Knows Best." It was as wholesome a family series as you could find, about a small-town pediatrician, Dr. Alex Stone (Carl Betz), his wife, Donna (Reed), and their kids, Mary (Shelley Fabares), Jeff (Paul Petersen), and, later, Trisha (Patty Petersen). Wholesome, yes—goody-goody, no. Reed, an Oscar winner, knew that would be not only fake, but boring. One of the best episodes revolved around an argument she and Alex have when the irresistible force (Donna) insists on dragging the immovable object (Alex) to an evening with boring friends. They try to hide their "disagreement" (it's all but a bare-knuckle fight) from the kids and, in a series of funny scenes, end up exchanging angry words by whispering and hissing through clenched teeth. Believable story lines, Reed's beauty, a solid cast, and the natural, unspoiled appeal of the kids made this a winner for the decade.

'70s THE WALTONS

There were plenty of crises on Walton's Mountain, but we've forgotten them all. What we remember is the show's signature close—the house with its lights going out as everyone said good night to each other. It's a brilliant image, the tucked-in symbol of a close-knit family. The success of The Waltons spawned other family shows, including Little House on the Prairie, Eight Is Enough, and Family. But The Waltons started the trend, and it is the series whose image has proved most durable: when you think of a warm, homespun family series, this is the one that springs to mind. Last year, when a TV GUIDE survey asked Americans what television family they would most like to be a member of, the top answer was—you guessed it—the Waltons.

'80s THE COSBY SHOW

How did he do it? How did Bill Cosby (and his writers) create the best comedy of the oh-so-hip '80s without ever exploiting breasts, behinds, or blackness? "There'll be no jokes falling on someone's sex, color, or religion," he told an interviewer. "We're going to deal with human behavior." And, with his sharp humor and deadpan style, the comic genius made that work. He could build an episode around the death of Lamont, 5-year-old Rudy's pet goldfish, or—in a famously funny scene—use Monopoly money to make a point to son Theo about the value of a college education. He had a special talent for avoiding clichés. In one episode, Cosby kept urging Theo to do better in school. "Maybe I was meant to be a regular person," said Theo. "Maybe you should accept and love me as I am because I'm your son." Ah, that poignant moment—time for Cosby to realize the boy is right and give him a big hug, right? On some other show, maybe. On this one, Cosby looks at his son for a long beat and then says, "Theo, that's the dumbest thing I've heard in my whole life!"

THE COSBY SHOW

Cosby may not be the obvious choice for Best Family Show—many might think first of The Waltons or Little House on the Prairie—but we think it belongs here. When it came on the scene in 1984, the half-hour comedy was considered by some TV insiders to be a fading form. Cosby's phenomenal popularity changed that: it single-handedly revived the genre. Cosby not only rehabilitated the sitcom, it revitalized the family-oriented program—and recognized the importance of "family values" years before a Vice President would use the phrase as a political football. We see Cosby less as a sitcom and more as a family series with great humor, as opposed to one-liners. It was wholesome without being stuffy, warm but never treacly, funny but not brittle. The Huxtables were an amusing family, yes, but the show never let us forget that they were, first and most of all, a family. ■

It's a Dash Refill.
You already have the bottle.
You just need the stuff.

The other day I sent my son Max to the store for some Concentrated Liquid Dash. A no brainer. He brings me home this bottle the likes of which I have never seen before. So I ask, "Son, what exactly is this? There's no handle, no measuring cap and the bottle is not even remotely yellow." He says, "It's a Dash® refill. You already have the bottle. You just need the cleaning stuff. And it costs less." He made sense. I can just pour this refill into my Dash bottle. Why pay for another cap or handle? I'm paying less per load. There's less plastic to get rid of, and that's better for the environment. My clothes will still be clean and fresh. And at this price, nobody but Dash has it. Wow, Max made sense. Which tends to frighten me.

COMIC ACTRESS

'50s Lucille Ball

She's television's First Lady of Comedy, our female Chaplin—an elastic-faced, husky-voiced, calamity-prone screwball with a bow-tie mouth, wide blue eyes, hair the color of steamed carrots. Lovably scatterbrained, always plucky, she romped from one wacky, slapstick antic to another—getting pinned to the wall by giant bread, setting her putty nose on fire, stomping grapes with abandon, aping Harpo Marx. Will anybody ever be this innocently, endearingly funny again?

'60s Carol Burnett

Her talent made TV's best-loved sketch-comedy show. No one could touch Burnett at center stage. From her hilarious turn as the princess in "Once Upon a Mattress" to her down-at-the-heels charwoman, she brought more than just a great mug and uncanny timing to her repertoire of characters. She was our sweet, vulnerable, national clown. We're so glad we had this time together.

PETER OLIVER

'70s Mary Tyler Moore

She was the perfect role model for a generation of working women. Her perfect timing—bantering with Mr. Grant, cracking up at Chuckles the Clown's funeral—was the centerpiece of a hit-parade ensemble cast. Her mastery of the comedic pause and double take alone gets her into the Comedy Hall of Fame. Moore's Mary Richards always stood up for herself, with an enthusiasm and ability that did—and does—make every working woman proud.

JERRY OHLINGER'S

'80s Roseanne Arnold

That brings us to America's reigning domestic goddess, the blunt, bold, earthy Roseanne. She's a smart-mouthed mama whose humor confronts the hard realities of our day—unemployment, teen sex and rebellion, domestic violence—and helps us survive it all. She's taking us into the '90s with a New Age Honeymooners—and this time she gets to be Ralph.

LUCILLE BALL

Every comedic actress owes a debt to Lucy—she did it all first. She was indefatigably silly, a beguiling caricature with a gift for making the outrageous believable. As we head for Year 2000, we say Lucy wasn't just the best in 40 years, she was America's television comic genius—our great Ball of fire.

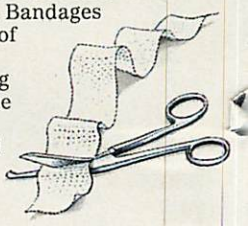
BAND-AID® Brand Adhesive Bandages remembers TV Guide's 40th Anniversary with a little reminiscing of our own.

Back in 1920, Earle E. Dickson was concerned about his wife Josephine, who had cut herself in the kitchen. So he made her a special bandage. He found that applying adhesive to a bandage would make it stay on better. A year later, his adhesive bandage was made available to the public. And today, BAND-AID® Brand Bandages are known worldwide.

Originally, the BAND-AID® Brand Bandage was an awkward 18 inches long and had to be cut to size. Now BAND-AID® Brand Bandages come in a variety of sizes, shapes and textures, including the nearly invisible protection of BAND-AID® Brand Clear Bandages.



Robert W. Johnson, who started out as a pharmacist, knew the importance of protecting wounds from bacteria. Even back then, he knew that a bandage that stayed on would keep cuts cleaner. Today, BAND-AID® Brand Bandages from Johnson & Johnson continue the tradition of keeping cuts cleaner by keeping bandages on.

Over the years, the adhesive of BAND-AID® Brand has been widely acclaimed. The most memorable ads showed the bandage holding fast under water. Today, that reputation for excellent adhesion still sticks.

'50s MAVERICK

In your classic western, the hero was a square-dealin' straight shooter who rode tall, drew fast, and cherished his gun and his horse—not necessarily in that order. Then there was Maverick—as played by James Garner, a poker-playing drifter in a sissy shirt who was slightly larcenous ("80 percent honest in a five-handed poker game") and—this was pre-political correctness—"handled a six-gun like a girl." The series spoofed the formulaic horse operas that had played for years in movie theaters; its cheeky humor brought a fresh new dimension to the western.

'60s BONANZA

Bonanza was champ of the ranch-type western. It was largely a male preserve for the Cartwrights—patriarch Ben and sons Adam, Hoss, and Little Joe—although Adam broke down and got married. In its way, the series was a forerunner of another "family" series, Little House on the Prairie—headed up by none other than Bonanza's Little Joe, Michael Landon. Guess where he learned his lessons? Honorable Mention: Rawhide.

'70s GUNSMOKE

Gunsmoke was king of the hill—not merely the longest-running western, as one reference book points out, but "television's longest-running prime-time series with continuing characters." Its central character, the towering marshal of Dodge City, Matt Dillon, was played by James Arness. Gunsmoke had a clean structure, simple but sturdy plots, and distinctive, memorable characters.

GUNSMOKE

No contest, this was the TV western. Maverick was infinitely wittier, Bat Masterson was more stylish, Have Gun, Will Travel had a more worldly air; but Gunsmoke was the classic. James Arness made the show: he was tall (6-foot-6), rugged-looking, and reminded a lot of people of John Wayne. The show's writing was simple and laconic—exactly in tune with the Western myth—and the acting was uniformly good: we looked at early episodes from the '50s recently and were surprised at how well they hold up. Arness was simply the perfect Matt Dillon, the ultimate no-nonsense lawman, but the other featured characters—Miss Kitty, Doc Adams, Chester, Festus—were also vividly realized. As for Matt and Miss Kitty: what was that all about? If there was any romance, it was strictly off-screen. And dadgummit, in the old westerns, that was where it belonged. ■

DRAMATIC ACTOR

'50s JAMES GARNER

His tongue-in-cheek portrayal of gambler Bret Maverick brought a refreshing hipness and humor to the TV western. He played the Old West outsider with easygoing charm and a light touch. Later, his growing reputation as a Hollywood rebel—a real-life maverick—brought an extra dimension to his image, one that said, "Don't underestimate me." Not as a man, nor as an actor. At the height of his popularity, he broke from the series to get into movies—one of the few TV stars to negotiate a truly successful crossover. He's smooth, wry—as likable and talented a performer as the small screen has produced.

PHOTOFEST

'60s E.G. MARSHALL

With Marshall at its moral center, The Defenders was a dramatic series ahead of its time, tackling social issues that are as fresh as today's headlines: censorship, abortion, mercy killing, pornography, political blacklisting. Television lawyers since—and quite a few real ones—owe Marshall a debt: his courtroom manner and many-shaded, solid performance as the patriarch of a father-son law team was a textbook case of good acting.

'70s RICHARD CHAMBERLAIN

In this decade he was excellent in Centennial and several TV-movies; but whatever he's done, from Dr. Kildare to Shogun, Richard Chamberlain has brought intensity and range. Put him in a series, a costume miniseries, a disease-of-the-week—heck, let him read the phone book—and Chamberlain will deliver.

NBC/GLOBE PHOTOS

'80s PATRICK STEWART

Lots of competition here: we applaud Daniel J. Travanti's steely captain on Hill Street Blues and William Daniels' crusty heart surgeon on St. Elsewhere. But we simply feel that Stewart's work on Star Trek: The Next Generation took a dubious notion—a Star Trek retread—and made it fly. He gave his role unexpected humanity, gravity, and literate grace. His formidable screen presence raises others to his level.

JAMES GARNER

Surprised? So were we, when the dust settled. "He's often overlooked," says director Robert Altman, "because he makes it look easy, and that's not easy to do." He wasn't just Maverick or sardonic Rockford, but the stricken doctor in "Heartsounds," the caring brother in "Promise," the Wall Street rogue in "Barbarians." Garner can do it all.

COP SHOWS

PHOTOFEST

'50s DRAGNET

It's the most famous—certainly the most satirized—cop series in TV history. And those four notes (dum-da-dum-dum) are surely the best known of any since Beethoven's Fifth Symphony. As Sgt. Joe Friday, Jack Webb was the laconic nemesis of bad guys throughout the 1950s. No personal life appeared to intrude upon his single-mindedness as he methodically tracked his prey through the byways of Los Angeles. Trademark phrases punctuated every show: "It was 4:50. We were working the day watch out of homicide."…"Just the facts, ma'am."… "It's my job. I'm a cop." Dragnet's documentary style and no-frills narration contributed to an illusion of realism, and generally proved that big-city police work succeeds more often by hard slogging and paperwork than by spectacular shootouts.

'60s NAKED CITY

Filmed in glorious black-and-white on location in New York, Naked City was the original and quintessential tough-and-gritty big-city cop series. Its tag line became a kind of mantra: "There are eight million stories in the naked city. This has been one of them." James Franciscus (Det. Jim Halloran) and John McIntire (Lt. Dan Muldoon) were sidekicks in the 65th Precinct (when most New York cops were presumptively Irish). The splendid actor Horace McMahon, whose rugged countenance belonged on Mount Rushmore, came along later as Lt. Mike Parker. Naked City provided welcome work for some impecunious up-and-comers like Robert Redford, Dustin Hoffman, Peter Fonda, and Jon Voight, but the star of the show inevitably was the city itself, underscored by that mood-setting, evocative theme music by Billy May and Milton Raskin. Honorable mention: The Untouchables.

Growing Opportunities In Tomorrow's Military

For years we have said, "The Armed Forces are a great place to start." Today's Armed Forces are still a smart option for young men and women to consider as they earn a high school diploma.

Tomorrow's military recruits will benefit from excellent training, increased educational opportunities, and greater responsibility.

Our Armed Forces may be smaller, but they must be every bit as good tomorrow as they are today. We must continue to have the kind of competent and thoroughly dedicated Armed Forces you have seen proudly at work...from the deserts of Iraq to the storm-stricken suburbs of Southern Florida and famine-devastated Somalia.

With the continued support of the American public, I believe they will be.

COLIN L. POWELL
CHAIRMAN, JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF

'70s Columbo

True, there was Kojak, with his lollipop and "Who loves ya, baby?" But this was the series that turned conventional TV crime-busting on its head: no violence; a maladroit, disheveled, and (seemingly) bumbling sleuth as its hero; and a no-suspense format in which the viewer learns up front whodunit, and the fun (lots of it) derives from watching Lt. (no first name) Columbo spin a web to ensnare the guilty. Starting on Sept. 15, 1971, Peter Falk originated one of TV's most enduring (and endearing) icons: the Los Angeles detective with the famous soiled, rumpled raincoat and the unfailingly polite manner.

'80s Hill Street Blues

It brought a whole new sensibility and texture to TV cop shows when it arrived on NBC's schedule on Jan. 15, 1981. To populate the Hill Street Station (located in a decaying section of an unnamed city), executive producers Steven Bochco and Michael Kozoll mustered a large, colorful cast of distinctive characters (Daniel J. Travanti, Veronica Hamel, Bruce Weitz, Betty Thomas) and turned them loose in overlapping stories melding drama and comedy. Most memorable line: "Let's be careful out there."

WHITLEY/SHOOTING STAR

Hill Street lovers Michael Conrad and Barbara Babcock.

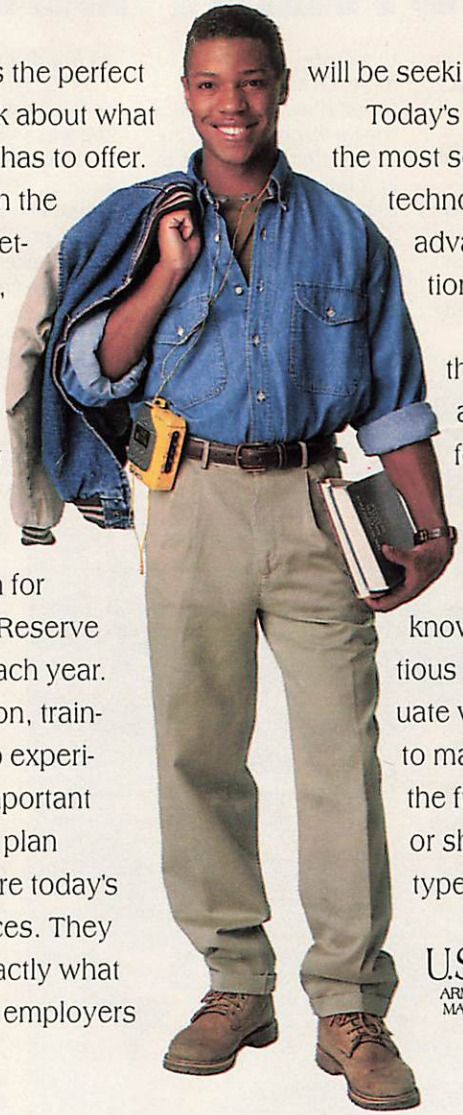
If You Never Thought Of Your Child As The Military Type, Think Again.



Now is the perfect time to think about what the military has to offer.

Although the military is getting smaller, the Armed Forces still need to recruit almost 400,000 young men and women for Active and Reserve positions each year.

Education, training, and job experience are important parts of the plan to restructure today's Armed Forces. They are also exactly what tomorrow's employers will be seeking.

Today's military is one of the most sophisticated and technologically advanced organizations in the world.

As in the past, the opportunities and rewards for joining the military will continue.

So, if you know a smart, ambitious high school graduate who's determined to make the most of the future, maybe he or she is the military type after all.

HILL STREET BLUES

Writing in TV GUIDE in 1985, novelist Joyce Carol Oates said that Hill Street Blues "is as intellectually and emotionally provocative as a good book," and even "Dickensian in its superb character studies, its energy, and its variety; above all, its audacity." It was "the only television program I watch with any degree of regularity," she added. In its seven seasons, Hill Street Blues did indeed attract a discriminating audience that developed an emotional, familial relationship with the huge (by TV drama standards), rotating cast of characters. It was a new kind of cop show, a total departure from the formulaic style of earlier successes such as Kojak and Hawaii Five-O. Hill Street, uniquely, was most moving when its interwoven storylines dealt with the human, personal—versus criminal—aspects of life at the precinct station, and allowed its beautifully drawn cast of characters to reveal themselves as real people: many episodes ended with a tender or sobering scene between Frank Furillo and Joyce Davenport. At the end of its seventh season, Hill Street went out in glory, having copped, as it were, 26 Emmy awards. ■

I think stress can be contagious, but I don't let it get to me. When it starts making the rounds at the office I relax with my special "Chill-Out Lunch"... fresh ingredients from the market topped off with the extra zing of Healthy Sensation! Honey Dijon dressing. It's delicious. Tangy mustard, sweet golden honey and sprinklings of cracked mustard seed. I eat out in the crisp clean air beside the lake and think, "What stress?"

LIZ'S CHILL-OUT RECIPE

- 1 package (10 oz.) fresh spinach leaves, rinsed and drained (about 7 cups)
- 1 can (11 oz.) mandarin oranges, drained
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 small red bell pepper, sliced
- ⅓ cup Healthy Sensation!® Honey Dijon dressing

In large salad bowl, combine all ingredients except dressing. Add Healthy Sensation! Honey Dijon dressing and toss gently. Makes about 2 main-dish or 4 side-dish servings.

DRAMATIC ACTRESS

'50s Loretta Young

She was the first of the big movie names to see the potential of TV, and for eight seasons, her anthology series allowed her to play a stunning variety of roles—Norwegian farm girl, Japanese wife (in "The Pearl"), even a nun—with chameleon-like skill. By the end of the '60 season, she had played 148 different leading characters and countless lesser roles. And though she was glamorous, it was her talent that made her TV's top trouper.

TV GUIDE ARCHIVES

'60s Diana Rigg

She was the Marlene Dietrich of TV: an elegant, intelligent English panther who drop-kicked villains with ease. In The Avengers, Rigg flaunted her sleek leather line, but behind her Brit glitz was a pioneer feminist with class to spare. To say that she was merely a great performer would be a disservice—because, as private eye Mrs. Emma Peel, Rigg set a benchmark for cool that stands today.

TERRY O'NEILL

'70s Cicely Tyson

Tyson's gallery of enduring characters showcased the black experience in America: "A Woman Called Moses," Roots, King, and so on. Her tour de force—"The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman"—remains a masterwork. As Pittman walks, at age 110, to a whites-only water fountain, viewers didn't think, "Look at that acting." All they saw was Pittman's pain, determination, and dignity.

SHOOTING STAR

'80s Tyne Daly

She made it real. As Mary Beth Lacey on Cagney & Lacey, Daly busted rapists, bickered with her partner, cared for her kids, and weathered a hot/cold relationship with her husband—and won four Emmys along the way. Consider the episodes in which Lacey developed breast cancer: this woman, who was effectively juggling the roles of mother, wife, friend, and detective, suddenly got tossed a ball she couldn't handle. Her pain was palpable; the careening emotions she portrayed, true.

ALL-TIME BEST

TYNE DALY

More than any other actress, she embodied the modern urban working-class woman in more than 60 series parts and dozens of TV-movies, such as 1980's "The Women's Room." As Lacey, she melded these characters into a tough, tender female icon, raising the mundane to the heroic. All this, and she did "Gypsy" on Broadway, too!

Peyton was a career-launcher for Ryan O'Neal and Mia Farrow.

'60s PEYTON PLACE

A soap in prime time? The thought seemed foolish when ABC introduced Peyton Place in 1964. But they managed to lure viewers into the naughty hamlet Martin Peyton built, and kept them there for five years. We met: Allison Mackenzie (Mia Farrow), illegitimate by birth, virginal by nature; Rodney Harrington (Ryan O'Neal), scion of a scandal-plagued family but otherwise an OK guy; and nearly 100 other characters tangled in a web of clandestine affairs, secret desires, and grudges fortified by time. The show managed to subvert all the notions of suburban tranquillity fostered by the family sitcoms and dramas of the time. And when several storylines were left open in the final episode, viewers were outraged. But what a ride while it lasted!

'70s DALLAS

It defined the formula for modern evening soaps: People with power and loads of money will do almost anything—ethics, ha!—to keep it. The diabolical corporate and sexual finagling of J.R. (Larry Hagman) Ewing and his adversaries kept us appalled and enthralled. It had a superior sibling contrast: J.R., the evil brother, vs. Bobby (Patrick Duffy), the good brother. Basically, the reason it worked so well is that the writers kept the focus on J.R., the Ewing family, and Ewing Oil, in that order. Then again, maybe it was all just a dream.

People just loved hating J.R. (Larry Hagman).

NEAL PETERS COLLECTION

'80s DYNASTY

It was all about Alexis Carrington Colby (Joan Collins), dressing well, and revenge—mainly against her ex-husband, Blake Carrington (John Forsythe). If J.R. Ewing was a rattlesnake, Alexis was a great, hooded cobra. Dynasty's campy opulence gave it a superb, ironic quality—in other words, it was great trash. Despite all their money, power, beauty, status, and wardrobes, they insisted upon behaving like spoiled high-school brats. Even the Moldavian fiasco—with everyone mowed down by gunfire—delighted us by its utter absurdity. If there's a temple of trash TV, it's built on Dynasty landfill.

PRIME-TIME SOAP

DALLAS

In terms of historical significance, who can forget the frenzy touched off when an unknown assailant shot J.R. on March 21, 1980? More people tuned in for Nov. 21's revelatory episode—wherein Kristin (Mary Crosby) held the smoking gun—than ever tuned into a regular-season show. OK, so maybe that was a one-time stunt, but Dallas resurrected the prime-time soap and ruled the ratings for many years before Dynasty became more fashionable. With its good-ole-boy Texas charm and bigger-than-big dimensions, perhaps Dallas was a natural heir to Bonanza, via "Urban Cowboy." But whatever the ingredients, it truly became reflective of its time. Few shows in history have so relentlessly explored the darker side of rich, nasty people the way Dallas and its imitators did. And true to the go-go '80s, they made the richest and nastiest characters the most entertaining ones. Still, what separated Dallas and its spinoff, Knots Landing, from the pack was the relative depth of the characters. It wasn't Anna Karenina, but it was great TV. ■

NIGHTTIME TALK SHOW HOST

'50s STEVE ALLEN

PHOTOFEST

Steverino: this guy'd do anything—jump into a vat of Jell-O, do dramatic readings of sheer nonsense, sing early rock lyrics. He was backed by a great ensemble—Don Knotts, Louis Nye, Tom Poston. Allen's blend of manic energy, intelligence, and funny, ad-libbed talk made for some of early TV's finest hours.

'60s JACK PAAR

Paar showed what a talk show could be: outrageous, provocative, silly. Crying on the air over a censored joke; being undressed by a giddy Debbie Reynolds; trading quips with Henry Morgan, Alexander King, Peggy Cass, he kept the conversation going. But what kept viewers tuning in was his willingness to take risks. He brought a new edge to live television: with Paar, you never knew what was coming next.

PHOTOFEST

'70s JOHNNY CARSON

When Tiny Tim wanted to marry Miss Vicki or Ed Ames wanted to throw a tomahawk, it had to be on-stage with Johnny. Taking the reins from Jack Paar, Carson quickly established himself as a star, with a mix of gags and laid-back interviewing that became a formula for imitators. He was our comfort zone and our national barometer. His topical nightly monologue was must viewing if you wanted to be in the know. And nobody was more generous with new talent.

'80s DAVID LETTERMAN

Taking Steve Allen's antics to new heights, Letterman would jump onto a Velcro wall, be covered in chips and lowered into a vat of dip, crush a Smurf with a steamroller, and expose America to pit bulls that bowl. Letterman brought to late-night a kamikaze combination of skeptical hipness and a well-honed sense of the absurd. Who else would twit his employer and, instead of getting fired, touch off a bidding war? Gutsy and funny—that's Letterman.

Critics quickly dubbed him The Great Stone Face. But impresario Sullivan, who also wrote a syndicated newspaper column, immediately recognized the new medium's power and learned how to wield it. His show was the place for firsts: Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, Audrey Hepburn, Jackie Gleason, and Lena Horne all took their inaugural TV bows on Sullivan's stage. With a reporter's sense for revelation, he knew that people would tune in for something completely unexpected—especially if it was great. '60s Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In Laugh-In brought The Establishment tumbling down. Long before MTV, it used videotape trickery to create a frenetic montage of sight gags, sketches, blackouts, parodies, and production numbers. One producer said they used about 250 jokes per show—one punch line every 13 seconds. Amid this stream-of-consciousness assault, bits by several regulars gave birth to ubiquitous catch phrases: "Here come de judge," "Sock it to me," "Verrry eeenterestting." Guest stars and quickie cameos (even Richard Nixon) all blended into the irreverent stew. After its cancellation, Dan Rowan (co-host with Dick Martin) said: "There is nothing left to revere...so it's pretty hard to be irreverent." We're still not ready to bet our bippies on that one.

VARIETY SHOW

THE ED SULLIVAN SHOW

There was no contest, yet it's a show that could never work today. The time has passed for a program offering everything from dramatic readings to dancing bears, from opera buffo to Topo Gigio, from the Doors to Dinah Shore. For 23 years, Sullivan showcased TV's infinite possibilities. He booked acts from all over the globe: jugglers, dancers, singers, animal acts, and more. It's where the Beatles made their live U.S. TV debut. And while he saw his show as an opportunity to expose viewers to the new and wondrous, he never lost sight of his need to entertain. Today his mandate is spread across the cable and broadcast spectrum: Everything from SNL and The Tonight Show to Great Performances and the cable comedy hours shares part of the load. No weekly one-hour program could ever match Sullivan's all-encompassing variety. It was not just "a really big shew"; it was the biggest. ■

DAYTIME TALK SHOW HOST

'50s Arthur Godfrey

He made Hawaiian shirts a national fashion trend and turned strumming the ukulele into a respectable profession. He was television's Huck Finn—boyish, open-faced, apple-pie likable. His 1950s shows were a combination of sketch, gab, and gags, delivered in a distinctively raspy voice. He fired show regular Julius La Rosa on the air, claiming that the young singer had lost his "humility." When TV tastes changed, Godfrey faded back into radio.

EVERETT COLLECTION

'60s Merv Griffin

APWIDE WORLD

Griffin was a relaxed, amiable host, but what you may not recall is that he was also a literate, intelligent one who didn't shrink from cerebral or controversial guests. His syndicated daytime talk show was so successful that CBS invited him into late-night to combat Carson and Joey Bishop. (Bishop succumbed, though Griffin couldn't beat Carson.) He also developed Jeopardy! and Wheel of Fortune, America's two top game shows.

'70s Phil Donahue

ARNOLD ZANN

For more than 25 years, Donahue has pushed the limits of the talk-show form, opening the door for Oprah, Sally, Geraldo, and innumerable others to live debate in an atmosphere of see-it-now immediacy. You name it, Phil's done it: from cross-dressers to life in Russia, from Nazis to a testy Bill Clinton, from Marlo to Zsa Zsa to Nancy Reagan. "I'm not mock-humble. I think I'm the best guy in the world with an audience," he once said—and he's almost right.

'80s Oprah Winfrey

She took the talk show a step further, applying aspects of her own life to contemporary issues without pandering or grandstanding. She wasn't afraid to reveal her own battles with weight loss, racism, and child abuse. Her combination of empathy, humor, and intelligence makes her a pro in knowing when to be center stage and when to back off. Her shows on alcoholism and its effects on American life are a landmark, as was her 1987 show on racial prejudice, taped in all-white Forsyth County, Georgia.

ALL-TIME BEST

OPRAH WINFREY

In a national poll last year, Americans said that of all the talk show hosts, it was Oprah they'd choose to tell their most serious problems to. They respond to that aura of bright sister and warm, caring friend. As her recent Michael Jackson "chat" showed, she's hotter than ever. So, Oprah's our choice: she talks turkey.

DAYTIME SOAPS

CBS

Mike Karr (John Larkin) with Sara Lane (Teal Ames) on Edge.

'50s The Edge of Night

When other soaps were just aborning, The Edge of Night was already afroth. This was the thinking fan's soap, a mind-bending mystery sudser that was so smart and expertly crafted that its die-hard devotees (who included Cole Porter, P.G. Wodehouse, and Eleanor Roosevelt) didn't dare miss a day for fear of missing a clue. An instant hit when it debuted in 1956, the cutting Edge broke the daytime audience's "heroine" habit—instead of the usual hausfrau lead, it boasted a male protagonist, criminal attorney Mike Karr.

'60s As the World Turns

Though it commanded the No. 1 spot in the Nielsens from 1958 until 1978—a 20-season record that will probably never be broken—As the World Turns truly exploded in 1960 with the arrival of actress Eileen Fulton. As Lisa Miller, a sexually promiscuous social climber, Fulton was daytime's first superstar and the prototype for Susan Lucci and all other soap vixens to come. Powered by her steam, As the World Turns became a pop-culture phenomenon.

CBS

Santos Ortega with Eileen Fulton, "daytime's first superstar."

'70s The Young and the Restless

CBS

Tom Ligon (with beard), Jaime Lynn Bauer, and John McCook.

As lushly produced as a Ross Hunter weeper and featuring a cast of gorgeous, near-naked newcomers who would break into song at the drop of a hat, The Young and the Restless premiered in 1973 and instantly branded all other soaps old-fashioned. No social issue seemed too touchy—incest, breast cancer, euthanasia, obesity were all explored. In only its second season, Y&R won the Emmy as Outstanding Daytime Drama.

'80s General Hospital

What can be said about a soap event so monumental that even the world's most famous movie star showed up for it? (Elizabeth Taylor at the 1981 wedding of Luke and Laura—Anthony Geary and Genie Francis.) And such stars as Emma Samms, Tristan Rogers, Finola Hughes, and Jack Wagner kept the show at fever pitch for the next five years.

GENERAL HOSPITAL

Sure, it's outlandish, some even say cartoonish—but General Hospital is the show to which all past and future serials must be compared. From its start in the '60s, when the sweet, platonic romance of Dr. Steve (John Beradino) and Nurse Jessie (Emily McLaughlin) had the country mesmerized, to the late '70s when Luke ravished Laura on the disco floor, to the '80s, when its edge-of-your-seat espionage plots forever changed the content of soaps, GH has survived by its infinite ability to reinvent itself. Thanks to the fuss over Luke and Laura, the show once and for all brought soap viewing out of the closet. Its graduates could fill a hall of fame: Demi Moore, Richard Dean Anderson, Daniel J. Travanti, Janine Turner, John Stamos. For a while, it looked as if GH might not make it through the '90s, but this 30-year-old institution has risen once again. ■

SPORTSCASTER

'50s Red Barber

"The old redhead" established himself as a giant in the field with his uniquely charming, Southern-inflected turns of phrase. For those who recall his work, baseball retains a "Field of Dreams" quality. And while modern announcers usually are part of The Organization, Barber kept his focus on the audience. Nothing could entertain more, he felt, than a clear, honest telling of what was going on in the ballpark. He was right.

'60s Howard Cosell

His was the Voice You Love to Hate—a radically squeaky wheel in the super-smooth machine of TV sports. He questioned the corporate line on matters such as Muhammad Ali's refusal to serve in Vietnam, the Black Power protests at the '68 Olympics, and the brutality of boxing. He railed against the dutiful "jock mentality" while remaining the lone TV journalist willing to "tell it like it is." Besides that, he helped make Monday Night Football—the only regular prime-time sports show—a cultural tradition.

NEIL LEIFER/SPORTS ILLUSTRATED

'70s Jim McKay

As host of the '72 and '76 Olympics plus ABC's Wide World of Sports, he quietly dominated the decade. But McKay's defining moment came during the 1972 Olympics in Munich when terrorists took members of the Israeli Olympic team hostage. As the world watched in horror, McKay suddenly found himself covering a major news story. He retained his composure, updated the facts, and handled the 12-hour satellite broadcast as well as any network anchor could hope to. That earned him an Emmy (one of 10), the Polk journalism award, and, more important, a level of professional respect rarely accorded sports reporters.

PERSONALITY PHOTOS

'80s Bob Costas

Fresh-faced Costas rose right to the top after joining NBC in 1980. An unabashed product of the TV age, he can reel off stats and pop-culture references like an over-prepped Jeopardy! contestant. He also combines intelligence, wit, and just enough playfulness to keep it all in perspective. Whether as host of NFL Live, Later with Bob Costas, or any of the other tasks NBC has thrown his way, he always makes other people seem interesting, a skill not unlike Johnny Carson's. As of this writing, Costas seems the sportscaster most likely to succeed in the '90s—and not just in TV sports.

NEW YEAR

199

Spring ahead with the help of your doctor and the "Waking-Hours"* nicotine patch!

NICOTROL is used as part of a comprehensive behavioral smoking cessation program

- *NICOTROL is the only nicotine patch specifically developed to be worn only during waking hours and then removed at bedtime
- Available by prescription only, NICOTROL is indicated as an aid to smoking cessation for the relief of nicotine withdrawal symptoms

FREE

A complimentary Patient Starter Kit is available with every new NICOTROL prescription. Ask your doctor if NICOTROL is right for you.

INFORMATION HOTLINE: 1-800-284-8118

You should stop smoking completely before using NICOTROL. Do not smoke or use other nicotine-containing products while under treatment with NICOTROL. Because this product, like cigarettes, contains nicotine, you should discuss with your doctor other ways to quit smoking if you are pregnant or nursing (nicotine can harm your baby) or if you have cardiovascular disease. If you are taking any prescription medications or are under a doctor's care for any condition, you should discuss with your doctor the potential risks of using this product. There may be other risks associated with the use of this product. Do not use this product for more than 5 continuous months.

Nicotrol® (nicotine transdermal system)

Systemic delivery of 15, 10, or 5 mg/day over 16 hours. Before prescribing, please see full prescribing information. A Brief Summary follows.
INDICATIONS AND USAGE Nicotrol systems, applied while patients are awake, are indicated as an aid to smoking cessation for the relief of nicotine withdrawal symptoms. Nicotrol therapy is recommended for use as part of a comprehensive behavioral smoking cessation program. The use of Nicotrol systems beyond 5 months has not been studied. CONTRAINDICATIONS Use of Nicotrol systems is contraindicated in patients with known hypersensitivity or allergy to nicotine or to any component of Nicotrol transdermal systems. WARNINGS Nicotine from any source can be toxic and addictive. Smoking causes lung cancer, heart disease, emphysema, and may adversely affect the fetus and the pregnant woman. For any smoker, with or without concomitant disease or pregnancy, the risk of nicotine replacement in a smoking cessation program should be weighed against the hazard of continued smoking while using Nicotrol systems and the likelihood of achieving cessation of smoking without nicotine replacement. Pregnancy, Warning—Tobacco smoke, which has been shown to be harmful to the fetus, contains nicotine, hydrogen cyanide, and carbon monoxide. Nicotine has been shown in animal studies to cause fetal harm. It is therefore presumed that Nicotrol systems can cause fetal harm when administered to a pregnant woman. The effect of nicotine delivery by Nicotrol systems has not been examined in pregnancy (see PRECAUTIONS). Therefore, pregnant smokers should be encouraged to attempt cessation using educational and behavioral interventions before using pharmacological approaches. If Nicotrol therapy is used during pregnancy, or if the patient becomes pregnant while using Nicotrol systems, the patient should be apprised of the potential hazard to the fetus. Safety Note Concerning Children—The amounts of nicotine that are tolerated by adult smokers can produce symptoms of poisoning and could prove fatal if a Nicotrol system is applied or ingested by children or pets. Used 15 mg/day systems contain about 40% (10 mg) of its initial drug content. Therefore, patients should be cautioned to keep both the used and unused Nicotrol systems out of the reach of children and pets. PRECAUTIONS The patient should be urged to stop smoking completely when initiating Nicotrol therapy (see DOSAGE AND ADMINISTRATION). Patients should be informed that if they continue to smoke while using Nicotrol systems, they may experience adverse effects due to peak nicotine levels higher than those experienced from smoking alone. If there is a clinically significant increase in cardiovascular or other effects attributable to nicotine, the treatment should be discontinued (see WARNINGS). Physicians should anticipate that concomitant medications may need dosage adjustment (see Drug Interactions). Use of Nicotrol systems beyond 5 months by patients who stop smoking should be discouraged because the chronic consumption of nicotine by any route can be harmful and addicting. Allergic Reactions—In a 3-week open-label dermal irritation and sensitization study of Nicotrol systems applied 23 hours per day, 3 of 215 patients (1.4%) exhibited definite erythema at 24 hours after application. Upon rechallenge, none of the subjects exhibited any contact allergy. In the efficacy trials erythema following system removal was typically seen in 7% of patients, edema was seen in 3%, and dropouts due to skin reactions were reported in 1% of patients. Severe skin reactions were not observed in either of the trials. Patients who exhibit contact sensitization should be cautioned that a serious reaction could occur from exposure to other nicotine-containing products or smoking. Patients should be instructed to discontinue promptly the use of Nicotrol systems and contact their physicians in the case of severe or persistent local skin reactions at the site of application (e.g., severe erythema, pruritus, or edema) or a generalized skin reaction (e.g., urticaria, hives, or generalized rashes). Skin Disease—The Nicotrol system is usually well tolerated by patients with normal skin, but may be irritating for patients with some skin disorders (psoriasis, atopic or eczematous dermatitis). Cardiovascular or Peripheral Vascular Diseases—The risks of nicotine replacement in patients with certain cardiovascular and peripheral vascular diseases should be weighed against the benefits of including nicotine replacement in a smoking cessation program for them. Specifically, patients with coronary heart disease (history of myocardial infarction and/or angina pectoris), serious cardiac arrhythmias, or vasospastic diseases (Buerger's disease, Prinzmetal's variant angina) should be carefully screened and evaluated before nicotine replacement is prescribed. Tachycardia occurring in association with the use of Nicotrol therapy was reported occasionally. If serious cardiovascular symptoms occur with the use of Nicotrol systems, the therapy should be discontinued. Nicotrol therapy should generally not be used in patients during the immediate post-myocardial infarction period or in patients with serious arrhythmias or with severe or worsening angina pectoris. Renal or Hepatic Insufficiency—The pharmacokinetics of nicotine have not been studied in the elderly or in patients with renal or hepatic impairment. However, given that nicotine is extensively metabolized and that its total system clearance is dependent on liver blood flow, some influence of hepatic impairment on drug kinetics (reduced clearance) should be anticipated. Only severe renal impairment would be expected to affect the clearance of nicotine or its metabolites from the circulation (see Pharmacokinetics in full prescribing information). Endocrine Diseases—Nicotrol therapy should be used with caution in patients with hyperthyroidism, pheochromocytoma, or insulin-dependent diabetes, since nicotine causes the release of catecholamines by the adrenal medulla. Peptic Ulcer Disease—Nicotine delays healing in peptic ulcer disease; therefore, Nicotrol therapy should be used with caution in patients with active peptic ulcers and only when the benefits of including nicotine replacement in a smoking cessation program outweigh the risks. Accelerated Hypertension—Nicotine therapy constitutes a risk factor for development of malignant hypertension in patients with accelerated hypertension; therefore, Nicotrol therapy should be used with caution in these patients and only when the benefits of including nicotine replacement in a smoking cessation program outweigh the risks. Information for Patient—A patient instruction sheet is included in the package of Nicotrol systems dispensed to the patient. It contains important information and instructions on how to use and dispose of Nicotrol systems properly. Patients should be encouraged to ask questions of the physician and pharmacist. Patients must be advised to keep both used and unused systems out of the reach of children and pets. Drug Interactions—Smoking cessation, with or without nicotine replacement, may alter the pharmacokinetics of certain concomitant medications.

May Require a Decrease in Dose at Cessation of Smoking	Possible Mechanism
Acetaminophen, caffeine, imipramine, oxazepam, pentazocine, propranolol, theophylline	Deinduction of hepatic enzymes on smoking cessation.
Insulin	Increase of subcutaneous insulin absorption with smoking cessation.
Adrenergic antagonists (e.g., prazosin, labetalol)	Decrease in circulating catecholamines with smoking cessation.

May Require an Increase in Dose at Cessation of Smoking

Adrenergic agonists (e.g., isoproterenol, phenylephrine)

Possible Mechanism

Decrease in circulating catecholamines with smoking cessation.

Carcinogenesis, Mutagenesis, Impairment of Fertility—Nicotine itself does not appear to be a carcinogen in laboratory animals. However, nicotine and its metabolites increased the incidences of tumors in the cheek pouches of hamsters and forestomach of F344 rats, respectively, when given in combination with tumor-initiators. One study, which could not be replicated, suggested that cotinine, the primary metabolite of nicotine, may cause lymphoreticular sarcoma in the large intestine in rats. Neither nicotine nor cotinine were mutagenic in the Ames Salmonella test. Nicotine induced repairable DNA damage in an E. coli test system. Nicotine was shown to be genotoxic in a test system using Chinese hamster ovary cells. In rats and rabbits, implantation can be delayed or inhibited by a reduction in DNA synthesis that appears to be caused by nicotine. Studies have shown a decrease in litter size in rats treated with nicotine during gestation. PREGNANCY—Pregnancy Category D (see WARNINGS section). The harmful effects of cigarette smoking on maternal and fetal health are clearly established. These include low birth weight, an increased risk of spontaneous abortion, and increased perinatal mortality. The specific effects of Nicotrol therapy on fetal development are unknown. Therefore, pregnant smokers should be encouraged to attempt cessation using educational and behavioral interventions before using pharmacological approaches. Spontaneous abortion during nicotine replacement therapy has been reported; as with smoking, nicotine as a contributing factor cannot be excluded. Nicotrol systems should be used during pregnancy only if the likelihood of smoking cessation justifies the potential risk of using Nicotrol systems by the pregnant patient, who might continue to smoke. Teratogenicity—Animal Studies: Nicotine was shown to produce skeletal abnormalities in the offspring of mice when given doses toxic to the dams (25 mg/kg IP or SC). Human Studies: Nicotine teratogenicity has not been studied in humans except as a component of cigarette smoke (each cigarette smoked delivers about 1 mg of nicotine). It has not been possible to conclude whether cigarette smoking is teratogenic to humans. Other Effects—Animal Studies: A nicotine bolus (up to 2 mg/kg) to pregnant rhesus monkeys caused acidosis, hypercarbia, and hypotension (fetal and maternal concentrations were about 20 times those achieved after smoking one cigarette in 5 minutes). Fetal breathing movements were reduced in the fetal lamb after intravenous injection of 0.25 mg/kg nicotine to the ewe (equivalent to smoking 1 cigarette every 20 seconds for 5 minutes). Uterine blood flow was reduced about 30% after infusion of 0.1 μg/kg/min nicotine to pregnant rhesus monkeys (equivalent to smoking about six cigarettes every minute for 20 minutes). Human Experience: Cigarette smoking during pregnancy is associated with an increased risk of spontaneous abortion, low birth weight infants, and perinatal mortality. Nicotine and carbon monoxide are considered the most likely mediators of these outcomes. The effects of cigarette smoking on fetal cardiovascular parameters have been studied near term. Cigarettes increased fetal aortic blood flow and heart rate and decreased uterine blood flow and fetal breathing movements. Nicotrol systems have not been tested in pregnant women. Labor and Delivery—Nicotrol systems are not recommended for use during labor and delivery. The effects of nicotine on a mother or the fetus during labor is unknown. Use in Nursing Mothers—Caution should be exercised when Nicotrol systems are administered to nursing women. The safety of Nicotrol therapy in nursing infants has not been examined. Nicotine passes freely into breast milk; the milk to plasma ratio averages 2.9. Nicotine is absorbed orally. An infant has the ability to clear nicotine by hepatic first pass clearance; however the efficiency of removal is probably lowest at birth. Nicotine concentrations in milk can be expected to be lower with Nicotrol systems when used while awake than with cigarette smoking, as maternal plasma nicotine concentrations are generally reduced with nicotine replacement. The risk of exposure of the infant to nicotine from Nicotrol therapy should be weighed against the risks associated with the infant's exposure to nicotine from continued smoking by the mother (passive smoke exposure and contamination of breast milk with other components of tobacco smoke) and from Nicotrol therapy alone or in combination with continued smoking. Pediatric Use—Nicotrol therapy is not recommended for use in children because the safety and effectiveness of Nicotrol therapy in children and adolescents who smoke have not been evaluated. Geriatric Use—Seventy-nine patients over the age of 60 participated in clinical trials of Nicotrol therapy. Nicotrol therapy appeared to be as effective in this age group as in younger smokers. ADVERSE REACTIONS Assessment of adverse events in the 509 subjects who participated in controlled clinical trials is complicated by the occurrence of GI and CNS effects of nicotine withdrawal as well as nicotine excess. The actual incidences of both are confounded by the smoking of many patients. When reporting adverse events in the trials the investigators did not attempt to identify the cause of the symptom. No serious adverse events were reported during the trials. Topical Adverse Events—The most common adverse event associated with topical nicotine is a mild and short-lived erythema, pruritus, or burning at the application site, which was seen at least once in 47% of patients on Nicotrol systems in the efficacy trials. Local erythema after system removal was noted at least once in 7% of patients and local edema in 3%. Erythema generally resolved within 24 hours. About 1% of patients dropped out of clinical trials due to skin reactions; none had classical contact sensitization (see PRECAUTIONS, Allergic Reactions). In the clinical trials performed (one Danish and one U.S. clinic), fewer total patients were used than in trials of other nicotine transdermal systems, and fewer adverse reactions were reported than in U.S. trials with other systems achieving comparable blood levels. Therefore, the systemic adverse event rates in the two sections below are based in part on 1200 patients treated with systems delivering comparable rates of nicotine per hour. Probably Causally Related—The following adverse events are believed related to Nicotrol treatment based on experience in clinical trials. Nervous system: Dizziness* Musculoskeletal system: Arthralgia† Skin and appendages: Rash,† sweating† *reported in 3% to 9% of patients. †reported in 1% to 3% of patients. Complaints occurring in fewer than 1% are not listed. Causal Relationship UNKNOWN—Adverse events reported in active- and placebo-treated patients at about the same frequency in clinical trials are listed below. The clinical significance of the association between Nicotrol treatment and the following events is unknown, but they are reported as alerting information for the clinician. Body as a whole: Back pain,† pain† Digestive system: Abdominal pain,† constipation,* diarrhea,† dyspepsia,† flatulence,† nausea,* vomiting† Musculoskeletal system: Myalgia† Nervous system: Concentration impairment,† depression,† headache,* insomnia,† nervousness† Respiratory system: Cough increased,† sinusitis† Special senses: Taste perversion† Urogenital system: Dysmenorrhea† *reported in 3% to 9% of patients. †reported in 1% to 3% of patients. Complaints occurring in fewer than 1% are not listed. DRUG ABUSE AND DEPENDENCE/OVERDOSAGE For further information, please see full prescribing information. DOSAGE AND ADMINISTRATION Patients must desire to stop smoking and should be instructed to stop smoking immediately as they begin using Nicotrol therapy during waking hours. The patient should read the patient instruction sheet on Nicotrol therapy and be encouraged to ask any questions. Treatment should be initiated with the Nicotrol 15 mg/day system. The patients should continue the treatment (one system each day) for 4-12 weeks of therapy. The patient should stop smoking cigarettes completely during this period. If the patient is unable to stop cigarette smoking within 4 weeks, Nicotrol therapy should be stopped, since few additional patients in clinical trials were able to abstain after this time.

Recommended Dosing Schedule

Dose	Duration
Nicotrol 15 mg/day	First 12 weeks
Nicotrol 10 mg/day	Next 2 weeks[a]
Nicotrol 5 mg/day	Last 2 weeks[b]

[a] Patients who have successfully abstained from smoking should have their dose of nicotine reduced after each 2-4 weeks of treatment until the Nicotrol 5 mg/day dose has been used for 2-4 weeks.

[b] The entire course of nicotine substitution and gradual withdrawal should take 14-20 weeks. The use of Nicotrol therapy beyond 5 months has not been studied.

The Nicotrol system should be applied promptly upon its removal from the protective pouch to prevent loss of nicotine from the system. The Nicotrol system should be used only when the pouch is intact to assure the product has not been tampered with. A Nicotrol system should be applied only once a day to a non-hairy, clean, and dry skin site on the upper arm or the hip. Each day a Nicotrol system should be applied upon waking and removed at bedtime. Caution—Federal law prohibits dispensing without prescription.

Barbara Walters and Hugh Downs in the 1960s.

'50s & '60s TODAY

Picture a time with no early-morning talk programs. The void. And into it suddenly on Jan. 14, 1952, came Today, a bold experiment dreamed up by a lanky NBC executive named Sylvester "Pat" Weaver, father of actress Sigourney. Dave Garroway was the host through the 1950s; '60s hosts were John Chancellor, then Hugh Downs, with Barbara Walters as a reporter. In the beginning, few believed that viewers would actually watch TV at 7 in the morning, but Today—and later its imitators at ABC and CBS—changed forever the way Americans begin their day.

'70s GOOD MORNING AMERICA

GMA became the first serious competition to Today when it arrived on Nov. 3, 1975. A sometime actor, David Hartman (The Virginian, Lucas Tanner), was its host for the first dozen years of its life, abetted (at the outset) by sidekick Nancy Dussault and a huge band of supporting players: Geraldo Rivera, Helen Gurley Brown, Erma Bombeck, Rona Barrett, Howard Cosell, F. Lee Bailey, and a consumer-products reporter named Joan Lunden. It chipped away determinedly at Today's audience, and finally, in 1979, broke through to become the No. 1 morning program. It's been up and down since, but tops the ratings now.

'80s CBS NEWS SUNDAY MORNING

At the close of the very first CBS News Sunday Morning broadcast on Jan. 28, 1979, Charles Kuralt commented: "We're a television program—a little more leisurely and experimental than most, we hope, but a news broadcast after all." Fourteen years later, it's still one of a kind, distinctive in its texture, pace, style, and mood—thanks mostly to the grace and understated charm of the portly, balding Kuralt. Most popular feature: a two-minute visual piece at the close of each program that lets whispering pines and waterfalls speak for themselves.

ALL-TIME BEST
MORNING SHOW

TODAY

Today is one of only three still-running television programs that began before TV GUIDE first hit the newsstands in 1953 (the others are Meet the Press and Guiding Light). And it was fully 27 years before another early-morning show (GMA) overtook it in the ratings. Today wins our Best of the Best laurels because, quite simply, it has been more enriching and more consistent far longer than its competitors, and because it's somehow—how can we say it?—more fun in all its tumult and disorder, like a noisy family that regularly washes its dirty linen in public. There was Willard Scott versus Bryant Gumbel, Barbara Walters versus Frank McGee, Deborah Norville versus the network, and, in the 1950s, chimpanzee J. Fred Muggs biting one and all. But with all its troubles, Today continued to cover the news and offer sprightly features to its viewers. Like 60 Minutes, it's the benchmark—the first and still best of its kind.

In other episodes, Murrow interviewed troops in Korea; defended embattled atomic scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer; and examined the early evidence against smoking. '60s THE HUNTLEY-BRINKLEY REPORT

On paper, the combo seemed unlikely: a dour Montanan and a witty North Carolinian. Yet from their start on NBC's nightly news program in October 1956, their chemistry captured the nation's fancy and made them TV's top-rated evening newscast. They established the co-hosted format as an alternative to the single, news-reading anchor, and guided us through eight political conventions, four elections, two Presidential funerals, two moon landings, and nearly 4000 daily broadcasts. How big were they? Huntley-Brinkley's ratings even bumped Walter Cronkite out of the CBS anchor chair (temporarily) in 1964. That's power.

'70s 60 MINUTES

Was it the reporters? The brisk, machine-tooled format? Or their knack for presenting hot stories in a lucid, entertaining fashion? Whatever it was, CBS found the ultimate TV franchise in 60 Minutes. Its reporters—masters of the exposé and champions of the people's right to know—became media giants. In addition, they had viewer mail (long before Letterman), the wild Point-Counterpoint, and, eventually, Andy Rooney's idiosyncratic musings. It was a rich, satisfying news fix each week. No wonder people still find it addictive today.

'80s ABC NEWS NIGHTLINE

It's simple: each night, Ted Koppel dissects the day's top story using satellite linkups and expert analysts. Hardly a major figure, from Egypt's Sadat to Jim and Tammy Bakker, escaped Koppel's relentless third-degree. The program more than fulfilled its mandate of "bringing people together who are worlds apart"—witness its '85 split-screen pairing of South African foreign minister R.F. Botha and Bishop Desmond Tutu. All that, and it even gave Carson a run for his money.

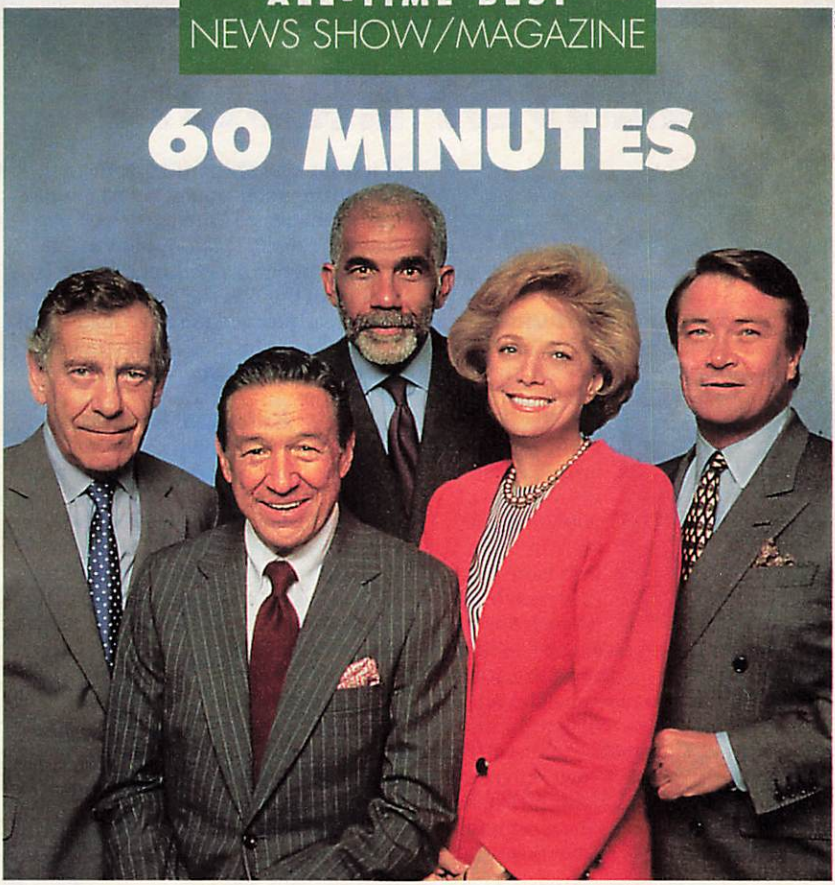
60 MINUTES



CBS

TV's top team: Morley Safer, Mike Wallace, Ed Bradley, Lesley Stahl, and Steve Kroft.

It's the most successful series of any kind in TV history. CBS grosses $200 million a year from 60 Minutes, and it continues to reside near the top of the ratings. It manages this by remaining TV's most durable voice of dissent and outrage, our national gadfly, while comforting the afflicted and afflicting the comfortable through four decades. In 1985, Don Hewitt—presiding mastermind and a creator of the series—told TV GUIDE: "You can't do a [TV] magazine only for news buffs and expect to survive. You've got to attract some Madame Defarges—people who used to attend guillotine executions to watch heads drop. So I set out to make as salable a commodity as I could—one so salable that nobody could ignore us." He succeeded beyond his own wildest dreams. 60 Minutes is the most shamelessly imitated news program in history, but at first, most knockoffs were knocked out. Ten years elapsed before another network successfully devised such a beast—ABC's 20/20—and now the prime-time schedule is clogged with them. But 60 Minutes gets our enthusiastic nod as first, and best, of breed.

'50s EDWARD R. MURROW

ARCHIVE PHOTOS

Even 28 years after his death, he's still the conscience and the lodestar of TV news. His radio broadcasts from the rooftops of London during the World War II blitz were the first great breakthrough for electronic reporting and awakened millions of Americans to the Nazi menace. He founded history's best team of broadcast war correspondents—William Shirer, Eric Sevareid, Howard K. Smith, Charles Collingwood—and personally covered the fighting in Europe, North Africa, and, later, Korea. He remains the most influential early figure in TV news history.

'60s & '70s WALTER CRONKITE

He first sat in the CBS Evening News anchor chair on April 16, 1962, and remained there for 19 of the most tumultuous years in U.S. history, becoming in the process the most trusted American and the presence to whom most of us turned in times of crisis, including the assassination of JFK. He made himself an expert on the manned space program, covering all of it from Alan Shepard's first flight in 1961 to the Apollo moon landing in 1969. His comments on Vietnam helped persuade President Lyndon Johnson that he'd lost public support for the war. By the end of the '60s, the Missouri native had already earned the affectionate nickname "Old Iron Pants" for his stamina and unflappability under pressure.

'80s BARBARA WALTERS

"When did you lose your virginity?" she inquired of Don Johnson. To Katharine Hepburn: "What kind of a tree would you like to be?" Critics have knocked her for queries like that, but Walters is also the dead-earnest journalist who has put tough questions to every President since Lyndon Johnson, as well as to Anwar Sadat, Saddam Hussein, Margaret Thatcher, Indira Gandhi, Fidel Castro, and scores of others. She handles celebrities—Cher, Sylvester Stallone, Johnny Carson—with the same deftness and sure touch. Starting with Today, she was the female breakthrough in TV journalism and helped define the '80s brand of celebrity-oriented news.

WALTER CRONKITE

He left the anchor chair in 1981 when he graciously stepped aside to forestall an effort by ABC to hire away Dan Rather. Our choosing him as The Best of the Best implies no slight to the legendary Edward R. Murrow, but only a recognition of Cronkite's much longer and still vital presence in television.

'50s GUMBY

"He was once a little green slab of clay"—till Art Clokey's clay-animation sensation bowed on Howdy Doody in 1956. After surviving in syndication in the '60s, the fantastic elastic boy (with his pony pal, Pokey, too) did a long stretch in obscurity—but bounced back in new episodes in '88. A true feat of clay.

Jay Ward's muddled moose was crudely animated, but the writing was a clever mix of lowbrow high jinks, wordplay, and sly satire. Case in point: when Bullwinkle and Rocky sought the mythical Kurwood Derby, TV announcer Durward Kirby threatened to sue—and Ward cheerfully encouraged him. Hokey smoke!

'70s Fat Albert and the Cosby Kids

Drawn (in both senses of the word) from Bill Cosby's stand-up routines about the Philadelphia ghetto of his boyhood, Fat Albert and the gang were the original Boyz N the Hood. On Saturday mornings teeming with funny animals and superheroes, they confronted such real-life problems as drugs, alcohol, and divorcing parents. Cosby consulted with a panel of academics in crafting the show, and provided the voice of Albert. Hey, hey, hey!

'80s The Simpsons

When they debuted in short segments on The Tracey Ullman Show in 1987, who would have guessed that the animated misadventures of a juvenile delinquent and his dysfunctional family would become a pop-culture phenomenon? No way, man. But, like Bullwinkle (whose influence creator Matt Groening has acknowledged), the show caught on with fast-moving stories full of topical in-jokes—and tie-in merchandisers laughed loudest of all.

THE SIMPSONS

TWENTIETH CENTURY FOX/JERRY OHLINGER'S

Though George Bush fumed that he wanted to see an America a "lot more like The Waltons and a lot less like The Simpsons," the fish-eyed family became the most popular toon on the tube since the Stone Age (as in Flintstones). Why? Because, in a nation founded by nonconformists, the Simpsons celebrate nonconformity—Bart's defiant underachieving; Lisa's jazz riffs at school band practice; Marge's blue 'do. Because, like The Honeymooners and Roseanne, they dare to show us the dark underbelly of the American family—and make us laugh at it. Because these lines on celluloid seem a lot more three-dimensional than most flesh-and-blood sitcom families do. Because we know that no matter how badly they screw up, they love each other. And because, as cartoons, they get away with it all. Marge can let Maggie slip through the supermarket scanner; Bart can lead a Lord of the Flies-style revolt at Kamp Krusty; Homer can doze off at the nuclear plant and barely avert a meltdown, and it's OK. Don't have a cow, man; these are cartoons. Aren't they? ■

KIDS' SHOWS

'50s Howdy Doody

"Say, kids, what time is it?" Buffalo Bob Smith would ask, and 40 squirts in the Peanut Gallery would shout back, "It's Howdy Doody Time!" And a good time that was for NBC's wildly popular, long-running (1947-60) children's show. Howdy was a 27-inch-long hunk of lemonwood carved into a redheaded puppet with a plaid shirt, a red neckerchief, and a permanent wooden grin on a face that sported 136 freckles. The host was a human fella named Buffalo Bob Smith, but we all know who was in charge: Notice they didn't call it The Buffalo Bob Show.

'60s Walt Disney

Other Hollywood studios wished television would just go away. Disney was the first studio to cooperate by providing programming—a decision that proved to have happy benefits for Disney and for viewers. Result: Disney, on different networks under various titles (Disneyland, Walt Disney Presents, The Wonderful World of Disney, etc.) since 1954, is TV's longest-running prime-time series. It was especially strong during the '50s and '60s, but in any decade Disney has always meant wholesome, delightful entertainment of unassailable quality.

'70s Sesame Street

"This show is brought to you by the letter D and the number 8," said Sesame, cannily framing its lessons in the zippy style of TV commercials—which, everyone knew, kids loved to watch because they were quick and catchy. The most popular characters were the Muppets, including Cookie Monster, Oscar the Grouch, Bert and Ernie, and, best-loved of all, Big Bird, a sweetly shy, 8-foot-tall canary. Sesame hit the Street running, and it's still going strong.

'80s ABC Afterschool Specials

These dramas for teens put prime time to shame by serving up meaty, absorbing stories instead of bubblegum sitcoms and mindless action shows. CBS had them too, but ABC's were the first—and the best. There were dramas on divorce, racial prejudice, AIDS, alcoholism, date rape, mental illness. Afterschool Specials were television in its worthiest mode—a sign that, like its viewers, the medium was coming of age.

SESAME STREET

Howdy Doody is dandy and After-school Specials are great, but there's little doubt that the series with the greatest impact on American kids is PBS's lively, long-running Sesame Street. Its modest original goal was to serve as an electronic Head Start, teaching disadvantaged preschoolers to count to 10 and learn the alphabet. The alphabet's still the same, but now they count more ambitiously (to 40) and also see segments that deal with emotions, computers, geometric forms, how the body works, geography, the environment, and racial stereotypes, to name just a few areas Sesame gets into. The Muppets have deservedly grown into an empire all their own. Perhaps most fascinating, Sesame Street isn't just for preschoolers. Among the nearly 10 million households watching the show each week, one in every five doesn't even contain any kids. ■

'70s JEOPARDY!

The answer is: The perfect quiz show, hosted by Art Fleming. The question: What is Jeopardy!? The game board supplied answers, contestants raced to provide the appropriate questions, and Fleming kept a rollicking pace without histrionics. As TV's toughest game show, it drew the brightest players and became a hit with college students. Bad time slots temporarily killed it in 1975, yet Jeopardy! rose from the ashes like a mythical bird (what is a phoenix?).

'80s WHEEL OF FORTUNE

Is there any doubt? Wheel remains the most successful show in syndicated-TV history. And though creator Merv Griffin merely used a facile word game—hangman—as Wheel's basis, the show has inspired all sorts of scholarly analysis. Is it letter-turner Vanna White's sexy smile? Pat Sajak's sweet, wise-guy charm? Or is it just that viewers like a game where they generally figure out the answer before the contestant? Whatever its charm, it still works.

JEOPARDY!

Perhaps Jeopardy!'s greatest advantage is its respect for the brain. What's My Line? charmed with its simple elegance, Password puzzled with subtle suspense, and Wheel is just plain fun. But as a quiz, Jeopardy! offers its audience a little bit more. Consider the Rosie Perez character in last year's "White Men Can't Jump." While her boyfriend lived the basketball hustler's life, she spent her days wrapped up in almanacs—all because some day, she was determined to get on Jeopardy! Though fictional, the character demonstrated the way a lot of us see Jeopardy!—it's not just a game show; it's a challenge, a goal. We admire the contestants for their striking abilities to accumulate knowledge. Granted, it's not really a candidate for The Learning Channel. It is, however, one of the few shows in its category that actually encourages people to learn. The fact that the three-way competition is often electrifying to watch doesn't hurt. And that, more than anything, may be why this rocket-paced quizzer endures. ■

SCI-FI/FANTASY

FOTO FANTASIES

Rod Serling defined spooky TV.

'50s THE TWILIGHT ZONE

Each piece in this anthology—which started late in the decade—featured a Rod Serling intro, delivered in his signature cadence through clenched teeth. The thought-provoking tales stood sanity on its head, and the clever blend of sci-fi and the supernatural formed a new brand of TV narrative. You never knew what was coming: parallel universes, shifts in the natural order, twist endings, otherworldly beings, or things that were just plain spooky. Its style inspired many imitators, although most of them fell short of The Twilight Zone.

'60s STAR TREK

It looked like another overacted space opera with cheesy sets, but it served up biting commentary that boldly explored human nature within the vacuum of space. Consider the episode wherein two aliens—both with half-black and half-white skin, but in opposite patterns—fight to the death. This allegory on the absurdity of racial divisions typified Trek's multi-layered plots. That structuring served to keep the Enterprise aloft through countless reruns and retreads.

FOTO FANTASIES

Leonard Nimoy and William Shatner.

'70s MORK & MINDY

Here we give a nod to the sitcom-fantasy that managed to transcend both forms thanks to the manic comic genius of Robin Williams. As Mork, the childlike alien from Ork, he examined and commented on human life in an improvisational whirlwind—all while driving poor Mindy (Pam Dawber) bonkers. To purists who contend that it wasn't really sci-fi, we say: "Whadda you know, Earthling? Nanu-nanu!"

EVERETT COLLECTION

Williams as Mork.

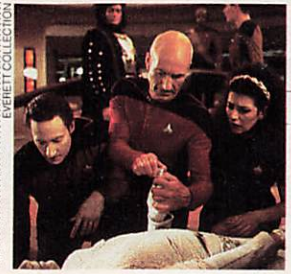
'80s STAR TREK: THE NEXT GENERATION

TNG succeeds in ways that the original never did, or could. And while it retains Trek's storytelling style, it expands on it both technically and imaginatively. In this future, aliens and Earthlings mix more freely, even aboard the Enterprise. Its endless creations—the charming, omnipotent "Q"; the fearsome Borg collective; the enigmatic Guinan (Whoopi Goldberg)—keep it fresh week after week. We're glad this starship is on a "continuing" mission.



EVERETT COLLECTION

TNG's Enterprise teems with cultures.

STAR TREK

There's no denying the Star Trek juggernaut: Gene Roddenberry's interstellar western spawned a cartoon series, six movies, magazines, original novels and novelizations, comic books, fan clubs, conventions, and countless parodies. The Next Generation has surpassed its parent in on-air duration, and Deep Space Nine promises to Trek till 2000. But none of this would have been possible if not for the original's conceit: that space exploration will someday go beyond moon rocks to involve us with "new worlds and new civilizations." And once there, we'll learn as much about ourselves as we do intergalactic phenomena. This imaginative mix of adventure and thoughtful melodrama is made all the better by positing humankind as a frail but heroic force in the universe. And until anyone proves different, we're sticking with Trek. ■

THE BEST OF THE REST

Honoring special events, one-time broadcasts, and major achievements of cable, premium, and public television

TV-MOVIES & MINISERIES

The TV-movie and miniseries forms didn't exist in the 1950s. Producers began making movies for TV in the mid-'60s—though the decade didn't produce much of note. The '70s were a different story: TV-movies and miniseries came into their own with outstanding films such as "Brian's Song" and the groundbreaking mini, Roots. Producers keep turning out smashing made-for-TV productions. Our picks of the best:

TV-Movies

Brian's Song (ABC, 1971). True story of the professional rivalry—and tender friendship—between black Chicago Bears halfback Gale Sayers (Billy Dee Williams), and his white teammate, Brian Piccolo (James Caan), who died of cancer in 1970 at the age of 26. "Brian's Song" was a beautifully poignant story "about" illness and death, but much more about life, friendship, and love. A high mark in TV-movies.

Dennis Weaver: Mann against truck in "Duel."

FOTO FANTASIES

Duel (ABC, 1971). This crackerjack suspense film could give you nightmares. Mild-mannered motorist David Mann (Dennis Weaver) is driving along a lonely stretch of highway when he tries to pass a big tanker truck. The driver doesn't make room. It's the beginning of a deadly cat-and-mouse game in which Mann realizes with horror that the vengeful truck driver—who, in the movie's scariest gimmick, is never seen—is trying to force him off the road. The director of this little gem? A then largely unknown young man named Steven Spielberg.

EVERETT COLLECTION

Vanessa Redgrave in "Playing for Time."*

Friendly Fire (ABC, 1979). Wrenching, fact-based story of a young soldier killed in Vietnam, and his parents' search to find out what really happened to him. Carol Burnett stars.

Playing for Time (CBS, 1980). Vanessa Redgrave and Jane Alexander starred in this haunting Holocaust story about women who survive at Auschwitz by playing in a bizarre women's orchestra.

The Day After (ABC, 1983). This bleak, chilling TV-movie—about the nuclear bombing of a Kansas town—still holds the record as the highest-rated TV-movie of all time.

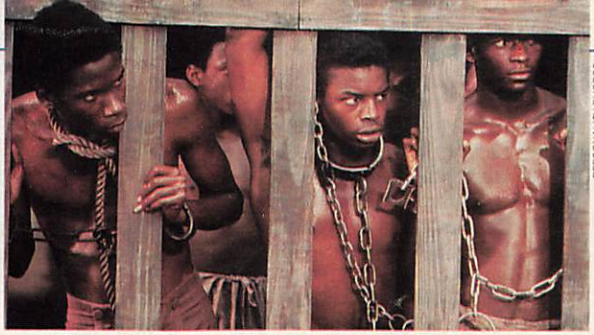
The Burning Bed (NBC, 1984). Farrah Fawcett shed her Charlie's Angels image with an outstanding performance in this powerful, reality-based story about a wife who has endured years of beatings and humiliation.



PERSONALITY PHOTOS

LeVar Burton (center) as slave Kunta Kinte in 1977's Roots.

An Early Frost (NBC, 1985). Searing personal drama starring Aidan Quinn as a successful young lawyer who goes home to visit his traditional New England family, and shocks them with the news that he is gay—and has AIDS.

Wallenberg: A Hero's Story (NBC, 1985). Inspiring film about Raoul Wallenberg (Richard Chamberlain), a Swedish diplomat who masterminded the rescue of more than 120,000 Hungarian Jews by outsmarting Nazi colonel Adolph Eichmann.

Barbarians at the Gate (HBO, 1993). James Garner made the most of his plum role in this marvelous TV-movie version of the best-selling book about corporate tycoons, Wall Street greed, and the biggest leveraged buyout in history.

MINISERIES

Rich Man, Poor Man (ABC, 1976). Peter Strauss, Nick Nolte, and Susan Blakely were described as "three exciting new performers" in ABC's press release for this epic 12-hour televerson of Irwin Shaw's novel about brothers Rudy and Tom Jordache, and beautiful Julie Prescott. It was one of television's first miniseries, and viewers loved it.

Roots (ABC, 1977). Suddenly, over eight consecutive nights in January, there was Roots, a series about a black man's search for his origins—a quest that took him back through American slavery to ancestors in a remote West African village. But not only blacks were watching. The whole country was enthralled by Alex Haley's story about the slave Kunta Kinte, his daughter Kizzy, her son Chicken George, and so on through four generations. It was a landmark of form and content that towered over the decade.

Shogun (NBC, 1980). Richard Chamberlain was Blackthorne in this marvelously exotic tale of adventure and intrigue. A shipwrecked English navigator, he's thrown into the fascinating, often terrifying world of 17th-century Japan.

The Thorn Birds (ABC, 1983). Lust in the Outback—the popular melodrama of illicit love between an Australian girl (Rachel Ward) and a Catholic priest (Richard Chamberlain).

Horseback: Richard Chamberlain.

Lonesome Dove (CBS, 1989). Larry McMurtry's story crackled with realism, vivid characters, and the brutal, casual beauty of the West. It was eight hours of pure viewin' satisfaction.

Prime Suspect (PBS, 1992). Sensationally good Mystery! series starring Helen Mirren as a relentless, no-nonsense, workaholic police inspector on the trail of a brutal serial killer. Through some oversight, they neglected to cast Richard Chamberlain. →

HBO

Starting in 1972 with a grand total of 365 subscribers on one cable system (in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.), HBO became the driving force in the growth of cable television. It became the first satellite-delivered cable network when it televised the 1975 "Thrilla in Manila"—the title bout between Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier—thus revolutionizing the industry and paving the way for scores of other cable networks such as ESPN, USA Network, and MTV. With a menu of uncut theatrical films, sports, concert specials, and sitcoms, HBO is now in more than 17 million cable homes. Some highlights of its programming:

Billy Crystal, Garry Shandling.

AP/WIDE WORLD PHOTOS

Fraggle Rock. 96 episodes of high-quality children's shows from Jim Henson, creator of the Muppets.

Comic Relief, a perennial mirth marathon to benefit the homeless, with Robin Williams, Whoopi Goldberg, Billy Crystal, and friends.

Dear America: Letters Home from Vietnam. The war, as described to their loved ones by the men who fought it.

The Larry Sanders Show. Garry Shandling's witty sendup of late-night talk shows.

Dream On. A hip, adult-oriented sitcom for the '90s, with clever use of vintage TV and movies.

CNN

CNN was a laughingstock among TV newspeople when it limped onto the cable scene in 1980 ("the Chicken Noodle Network," they called it). Nobody's laughing now. It's in 61 million American homes and visible in 140 foreign countries and territories. From its Atlanta headquarters it taps the newsgathering resources of 28 bureaus around the world—more than any single commercial network. More than 300 local TV stations also use CNN reports in their news broadcasts.

CNN

CNN alone carried the Challenger disaster live.*

Most popular program: Larry King Live, every politician's favorite forum during the 1992 election year.

Most disorderly: Crossfire, with its heated (and often entertaining) left/right wrangling between Pat Buchanan, John Sununu, Michael Kinsley, et al. CNN is the place to be during times of crisis.

Among CNN's best efforts:

The Persian Gulf War, when the network was the communications loop between Washington, Baghdad, Kuwait, and millions of viewers around the world.

The attempted Soviet coup of August 1991—CNN had comprehensive coverage as the world waited in suspense to learn the fate of President Mikhail Gorbachev and his democratic reformers.

MTV NETWORKS

Michael Jackson on MTV.*

MTV

At 12:01 A.M. on Aug. 1, 1981, an announcer's voice intoned: "Ladies and gentlemen... Rock and roll!" MTV was born at that instant and quickly became the most influential cultural product of the age. Its chairman once said MTV "was meant to drive a 55-year-old person crazy," and it probably has succeeded many times. But its 12-34 target audience has been boogieing happily to the music of Michael Jackson, Madonna, Cyndi Lauper, Prince, Rod Stewart, Bruce Springsteen, and scores of others. MTV was an all-new kind of television and has left its mark on fashion, movies, advertising, and even TV news. In 1992 MTV, along with "Rock the Vote," helped inspire millions of 18- to 24-year-olds to vote, and the MTV Ball was the hottest ticket in Washington on Inauguration Day. From its first days, no other service has so thoroughly epitomized the cutting-edge spirit of rock and roll in America.

PUBLIC TELEVISION

No record of the last 40 years would be complete without a deep bow to the outstanding contribution of public television. Among its successes:

Civilisation (1970), the brilliant 13-part history of art, architecture, poetry, music, and philosophy, written and narrated by Kenneth Clark.

The Ascent of Man (1975), another 13-hour BBC series, with British scientist Jacob Bronowski strolling through ancient ruins and Renaissance cathedrals as he described the sprawling pageant of humankind's emergence, from prehistoric times to the present.

Masterpiece Theatre. Public TV's most enduring weekly series, now in its 22nd season of (mostly) British dramas, including smasheroo hits like Upstairs, Downstairs; I, Claudius; and The Jewel in the Crown. It has become "appointment television" for the five million fans who muster weekly to observe the costumed pageantry, the roistering high jinks of royalty, and the tribulations of class-ridden British society.

An American Family (1973). A controversial cinéma-vérité portrait of the William Loud family of Santa Barbara, Cal., which showed them living through real-life crises—oblivious, it seemed, to the probing cameras of producer Craig Gilbert.

Great Performances. Television's longest-running series devoted to the performing arts arrived in 1974 and, ever since, has given TV watchers an eye-popping array of concerts, dance programs, operas, and plays, featuring works by Martha Graham, Tennessee Williams, John Cheever, Eugene O'Neill, Merce Cunningham, and Tom Stoppard—including the incomparable Brideshead Revisited and Wagner's Ring cycle of operas.

Derek Jacobi

EVERETT COLLECTION

Cosmos (1980). Carl Sagan's astronomy series dizzied us with descriptions of the "billions and billions of stars" in our universe, and of black holes, time travel, Hindu cosmology, and Martian canals.

American Playhouse represents public television's 11-year commitment to presenting fine anthology drama week in and week out. It's given us scores of original plays (primarily by American writers) as well as such American classics as Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night," Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth," and Arthur Miller's "All My Sons," plus adaptations of works by

GM MARK OF EXCELLENCE

Robert E. Lee in The Civil War.

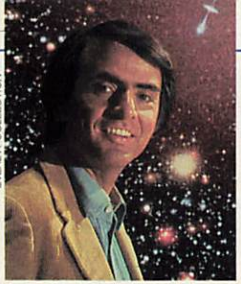
Katherine Anne Porter ("Noon Wine"), James Baldwin ("Go Tell It On the Mountain"), and many others.

Two of public television's brightest moments were a memorable brace of documentary series:

Eyes On the Prize (1987). "A journey into the soul of America," one critic called this six-hour PBS series that chronicled the civil-rights struggle from the 1954 Supreme Court decision against segregated public schools to the 1965 Voting Rights Act. It reshaped the thinking of viewers about the battle for racial justice.



EVERETT COLLECTION

Carl Sagan and Cosmos.

The Civil War (1990). In 11 hours of stunning television, it led us through the nation's bloodiest war, telling the story from letters, diaries, photos, and headlines. "A documentary masterpiece… a video miracle," one critic called it. The Civil War gave PBS the greatest critical and popular success in its history.

But if there's one face and form that most epitomize public TV, it's Bill Moyers. Starting in the early 1970s, he's been creating a body of work unmatched by anybody else in TV—tough investigative reports and cultural specials.

DISCUSSION/PUBLIC AFFAIRS SHOWS

Meet the Press is not only the great-granddaddy of all public affairs interview programs; it is the longest-running network television program of any kind. It debuted at the very dawn of network television (Nov. 20, 1947). Since then, hardly a top U.S. politico or major world figure has escaped its gaze. Recently, it expanded to an hour with Tim Russert as moderator. Russert's relentless interviewing style and solid preparation have quickly made him one of the most respected TV newsmen on the Washington beat. For an astonishing 46 years, Meet the Press has been a weekend habit for millions of Americans—just like the Sunday morning newspapers. For its age and grace, it's the preeminent political talk show.

Other distinguished political chatfests:

Face the Nation. Envying the success and prestige of Meet the Press, CBS concocted its own version in 1954. Veteran newscasters like Howard K. Smith and Martin Agronsky were among its earliest hosts. George Herman had the job for 14 years, and then turned over the scalpel to Lesley Stahl, who later quit to join the 60 Minutes gang. These days, it's Texan Bob Schieffer—the network's chief Washington correspondent—who vivisects the week's leading newsmakers.

The MacNeil/Lehrer NewsHour. From humble beginnings in 1975 as a local New York half-hour anchored by Canadian-born Robert MacNeil—joined by Jim Lehrer as Washington cohost the following year—the PBS program evolved into television's first daily, national, hour-long news broadcast. Thanks to Charlayne Hunter-Gault and Judy Woodruff, it has taken on even greater authority and panache.

This Week with David Brinkley. In 1981, David Brinkley stunned the TV world by jumping ship at NBC—where he'd been a superstar for three decades—and joining ABC News, which promptly created a Sunday showcase for its prize catch. Ever since, This Week with David Brinkley has been a jewel in ABC's crown, thanks to the celebrated Brinkley style (a meld of courtliness and wry gravity) plus the genial combativeness of Sam Donaldson and George Will. ■

NBC Stages the Audition of a Lifetime for Comics

Talk about pressure. On March 31, NBC's hunt to fill David Letterman's slot moved to the L.A. comedy-club scene, and eight jittery comedians—all white males, mostly lesser-knowns—were paraded before the network's top brass and Lorne Michaels, who's developing the new Late Night, in the biggest star search since Selznick went looking for Scarlett O'Hara. Coming just weeks before Letterman's replacement is to be announced, the comics' auditions—a mere 10 minutes each—certainly looked like a final review of the A-list before the multi-million-dollar job is filled. Though they may all end up as also-rans, here's how the stand-ups stood up:

COMEDY CENTRAL

Havey: his act's a hit with network execs.*

Rick Ducommun: Joked about Woody Allen and the two baseball players killed in recent boating accident.

Paul Provenza: Host of cable's Comics Only. Told religious jokes.

Drew Carey: Already has a part in Michaels' new "Coneheads" movie. Has a rapid-fire style, but a beer-keg body. Thick glasses and a crew cut give him a non-TV look.

Rick Reynolds: The most cerebral of the crew.

Jon Stewart: A New Yorker, told non-PC anti-gay jokes.

Chuck Booms: A redhead with a buzz cut that gives him a funny look; does impressions of Ross Perot—but who doesn't?

Wayne Cotter: Wins the Jay Leno clone award.

Allan Havey: With appearances on Letterman, Tonight, and a Comedy Central show, he's got experience. His routine was racy.

After the tryout, NBC West Coast president Don Ohlmeyer shook Havey's hand, telling him: "I enjoyed your act." But Havey isn't counting on NBC. According to Havey, "Jeff Sagansky (CBS Entertainment president) is coming to see me. They're looking for someone to put on after Letterman." —Mark Schwed

Donahue Takes On Wildmon & Co.

Donahue is finally fighting back against year-long ad boycotts that Donald Wildmon's American Family Association (AFA) and Texas dentist Richard Neill have waged against the show. Attorneys for distributor Multimedia sent a warning to the AFA for using Donahue material in its fund-raising. In response, the AFA—which objects to Donahue's sexual content—asked members to contribute to a legal defense fund, and to write to Procter & Gamble and ask them to pull their ads. As for Neill, Donahue producers invited him to make his case on a show to air April 14. Neill declined, saying it would only jeopardize his campaign. Multimedia Entertainment president Bob Turner says that this year's Donahue ad sales are higher than last year's. —Ileane Rudolph

FCC Rules Mean Lower Cable Fees and More Action-TV

The typical cable subscriber will pay less for basic services, and the average TV viewer may see more action dramas, as a result of two major decisions from the FCC. Here's the lowdown:

• Cable re-regulation. The FCC ordered most operators to bring prices in line with rates charged in the few areas where cable faces strong competition. That could produce average savings of $2 a month in fees for basic services, which typically include broadcast channels and such popular cable networks as CNN, MTV, and USA.

Further savings may result from the FCC's decision to guarantee both telephone and satellite companies access to programming now delivered exclusively by cable. Competition among these suppliers is expected to drive down the overall home-entertainment bill.

But cable companies threatened to challenge the new rules in court. If prices are cut, they say, they won't have enough cash to upgrade their systems and offer new channels.

• Rerun rules. The FCC said the Big Three networks could invest in their prime-time entertainment shows and profit from reruns. One result: the ruling might encourage networks to keep shows on the air longer, with hopes of eventually sharing in the shows' syndication profits. Also, with more potential for recouping investment, the networks might increase budgets for episodic TV, creating a boom of expensive, hour-long action dramas like Kung Fu, Star Trek, and others currently popular in syndication. —David Lieberman

• SPATS •

Will We See Seinfeld's Parking-Lot Episode?

NBC

Seinfeld: pulling punches?*

The Seinfeld people insist it's just coincidence, but you make the call: the show has twice yanked at the last minute an episode that deals with a disputed parking space. (The plot: George parks in a spot for the handicapped.) Is this Jerry Seinfeld's way of pulling punches in his show's bitter, real-life spat with Tom and Roseanne Arnold over a studio parking space? Who knows? Consider this, though. It's been about two years since Seinfeld changed episodes as TV GUIDE listings went to press. And the show has never pulled the same one twice. —I.R.

TV CLIPS

The curtain's falling on Hee Haw's hoedown. The corn-pone music-and-comedy show is closing down after a 25-year run...Designing Women's Julia Duffy signed to star in an NBC sitcom pilot, Alone Together, about four single thirtysomethings sharing a house in New Jersey...Hearts Afire producer Linda Bloodworth-Thomason may relocate the Washington-based comedy to the South, where her Designing Women and Evening Shade are set...The Sci-Fi Channel's Pilot Playhouse airs April 24-25, featuring pilots of series such as Dark Shadows, The Invaders, and Planet of the Apes. —Penelope Patsuris

'Sexy Soap' choices leave fans foaming

How can you have "Soaps' Sexiest Stars" ["Anything Goes," March 20] and not list Michael E. Knight (Tad Martin on All My Children)? He oozes sex appeal! I have been a fan of AMC since 1975, and no one lights up the screen like Michael. He deserves to be at the top of your list.

Kathy L. Russo
Salinas, Cal.

It's definitely hotter in daytime. The men and women you picked for the steam team are very steamy. But you left out the hottest, steamiest, and sexiest man in daytime, Drake Hogestyn (John Black on Days of Our Lives). My tape melts in the VCR.

Kathy Salatillo
South Yarmouth, Mass.

Editor's note: Don't forget to clean those tape heads.

I'm sure that Melina Kanakaredes' Greek Cheese Pies are wonderful ["Soap Dishes," March 20], but there is no way she should have been excluded from the sexiest soap stars article. As Eleni on Guiding Light, she has an unbelievable natural beauty.

Gary Pickle
Johnson City, Tenn.

You failed to mention one of TV's sexiest daytime stars, Kelly Garrison (Hilary Lancaster on The Young and the Restless). While not as sexy as Kimberlin Brown, she most definitely ranks with the sexiest of daytime television stars.

Anthony P. Trotter
Lawton, Okla.

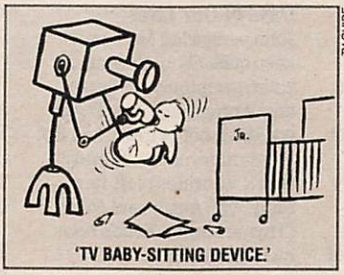
A Column About Values and TV

A love-hate relationship that's as old as the tube

Since this issue is devoted to TV's past, it strikes me as a nice place to look at its future, and particularly at warnings from the many doomsayers out there.

To be sure, the medium was launched on a wave of expectation that has gone largely unmet. I was recently surprised to run across a batch of old TV GUIDES, circa '57-'58, in—of all places—an antiques shop. Yet, as I leaf through them, it is clear they are indeed artifacts of a vanished past; an era when most of us looked at the world with what now seems almost unbelievably naive eyes. "TV: Foe of Illiteracy" runs one straight-faced contents-page listing. Another typical cover line offers advice on "How to Spot a Quiz Kid in Your Family"—no one suspecting that some of the kids on some of the shows were being tutored in deceit.



TV GUIDE

Future perfect: This is just one of the uses predicted for TV during a more naive era.

In the technical sphere, especially, TV was seen as having limitless potential for good. One piece looking way ahead to 1984 predicts the medium "will be a means of education" and of ordering "meat by code numbers"; a "baby-sitting device" and, via two-way hookup, a means of "consultation with doctors," and on and on.

We've moved so far from optimism about the impact of TV that it is with a start that one realizes that, in fact, much of it has come to pass. In our jaded age, we're far more apt to open the paper and find "TV: Illiteracy's Best Pal." The litany of complaints about TV—sex, violence, stupidity—is summed up in the title of New York University professor Neil Postman's book on the medium, Amusing Ourselves to Death. Lewis H. Lapham of Harper's Magazine lately observes that the number of channels now available only makes for more options not worth choosing. What, he wonders, will be on when the number jumps to 750? Then he offers some sarcastic suggestions: Medical Cinema Vérité; an Elvis Channel; Me, a channel on the lives of ordinary people presented as performance art.

Frankly, I don't get it. I mean, I'd watch some of that stuff, wouldn't you? Finding myself not long ago in a house with a satellite dish, I went crazy jumping between all I wanted to see, from "My Little Chickadee" on some station in Texas to The Simpsons to a bunch of therapists in Denver discussing "the psychology of attraction." The truth is, TV's vast range of possibilities—to amuse, to educate—has scarcely been tapped.

Yes, in remaking the world, TV has played havoc with traditions and values at the very root of who we are as a people. Happily, at long last, we are beginning to look at that.

Yet we'll look at it, as we have every other major issue these past 40 years, largely on TV itself. And more people will learn more on the subject than in all the town meetings and general stores in the history of the world.

It's easy to curse the darkness. The light we always take for granted. ■

BY SUSIE WETMORE AND TOM MITCHELL

All My Children
Last week (April 12-16), Mona suspected that Kendall is the child Erica gave up for adoption when she was a teenager. Meanwhile, Nick hired Charlie to investigate. Gloria refused to marry Adam right away. Dixie caught Tad and Brooke kissing.

Another World
John and Kelsey saved Jenna, but not all ended well. The crisis forced Felicia to confront her alcoholism. The ordeal also brought John and Kelsey closer, but Dean was devastated. Ryan joined Cass and Frankie in the search for proof that Christy killed Douglas.

As the World Turns
A surprise guest thrilled Emily in Italy. Kim and Bob were caught necking in a '57 convertible on their anniversary. Rosanna wasn't ready to spend the night with Evan. Debbie ran into trouble on a late-night drive. Neal turned down Lucinda's offer for a promotion.

Bold and the Beautiful
The Forresters got shocking news that Brooke may be the sole owner of the new Belief formula. Brooke's good fortune didn't stop there: Taylor was left feeling like a fifth wheel at dinner. Sheila panicked upon learning of Eric's plans to visit Genoa City.

Guiding Light: Mark Derwin.

Days of Our Lives
John persuaded Marlena to keep quiet about their affair. Later, symptoms led her to take a pregnancy test. Taylor got Mitch out of town, and Bo went undercover. Wendy (Lark Voorhies) left her baby with Austin and Jonah (Thyme Lewis). Billie's book hit home for Kate.

General Hospital
Dominique clung to life, and she and Scott pinned their hopes on Lucy. Karen was acquitted of plagiarism and encouraged Jagger to find his siblings. Bill still hasn't forgotten Victoria. A.J. and Jason stuck it to Monica and Alan in therapy.

Guiding Light
Harley agreed to give up her search for Frank Sr., but Mallet secretly left his options open. Nick became aware of Eve's mind games, and Eve closed in on Mindy. Buzz got damaging info on H.B. for Roger. Then, Roger blackmailed Gilly into asking H.B. a shocking question at his celebration.

Loving
A shocked Jeff Hartman found Trisha, his former wife, who was suffering from amnesia and asking him to take her to Rome. Trucker resolved to go on with his life. Hannah fantasized about Jeremy. Clay urged Curtis to forget Dinah Lee.

One Life to Live
Mortimer was arrested, but Renee was determined to prove his innocence. Angela (Susan Diol) advised Cord to forgive Tina. Cain tricked Alex into admitting she framed Tina. Viki and Sloan's family dinners were disastrous.

Young and the Restless
Both Victoria and Nikki found Cole to be a welcome guest at the ranch. Traci, swayed by Brad's courtroom arguments, agreed to give her marriage more time. Kay sailed away, unaware that John and Jill had canceled their cruise. Eric arrived in Genoa City to meet with Lauren.

HITS & MISSES REVIEWS BY JEFF JARVIS

Roseanne...Elvis...global melting...Reeve...Bronson

The Fire Next Time (Sun., Tues., CBS)—Here's CBS's attempt to make an updated "The Day After" about global warming instead of nuclear war. As a setting for a movie, it succeeds, creating an apocalyptic world "sometime soon" that is hot, sweaty, and unhappy. But the action is aimless. Craig T. Nelson plays a shrimper who loses everything in a storm and heads for cool Canada with wife Bonnie Bedelia and kids, dodging eco-cops, eco-cultists, and eco-terrorists. It's a movie with vision and talent. If only it also had a strong story. My score (0 to 10): 8

The Woman Who Loved Elvis (Sun., ABC)—Don't expect a wacky comedy. Roseanne Arnold plays a mom with a sad Elvis obsession who teaches her welfare caseworker (Cynthia Gibb) about life. There's hardly any story here. But the characters are endearing. My score: 6

Masterpiece Theatre: Calling the Shots (Sun., PBS)—Lynn Redgrave plays a Murphy Brown with a really bad attitude—a sour, drunken, self-righteous reporter for British TV who's being terrorized by a voice on a phone. Redgrave's performance is a vein-bulger, but her predicament finally gets exciting. And it is good to see something more entertaining on Masterpiece than another impenetrable Ibsen play. My score: 7

CRAIG SJODIN/ABC

Roseanne and idol in "The Woman Who Loved Elvis."*

The Sea Wolf (Sun., TNT)—Christopher Reeve meets Charles Bronson—steel meets stone—in a new TV-movie version of the Jack London tale. Reeve plays a citified dandy who's rescued from a shipwreck by a mean captain (Bronson) and taken out to sea against his will. It is—it should be—a great yarn. But with Bronson's zombified performance—he doesn't act like an old salt, he acts like a bored doorman—and a flat script, it should be called "Sea Slug." My score: 3

Father & Son (Mon., NBC)—Remember the short-lived fall series Crossroads, about a father and his wayward son who, when forced together, learn to get along? It died. But here's what appears to be a remake, with Louis Gossett Jr. and Blair Underwood as father-and-son convicts who end up on parole together. Dumb idea? Yup. But it's worth a laugh to see Underwood trying to act as if he never wore a suit on L.A. Law. He just wants to be baaad. And in one sense of the word, he is. My score: 4

The Ultimate Driving Challenge (Fri., CBS)—Craig T. Nelson (again) and Paula Zahn give a quiz about driving with some really dumb questions. People who can't pass this test definitely shouldn't drive. Heck, they'd probably be unsafe walking. My score: 2

Note: Schedules vary in some areas.

'101 Dalmatians' spotted on pay cable; Earth Day fare

BY RAY STACKHOUSE

A parents' guide to noteworthy programming for youngsters. Programs especially suitable for preschoolers are marked •

Movie. If you find yourself tuned into the Disney Channel on Saturday around 7 P.M. [ET], don't mess with your controls. All those dots on the screen will be from "One Hundred and One Dalmatians." This ★★★ charmer from 1961 tracks the adventures of canine mom and pop Perdita and Pongo as they undertake a mission to rescue their dognapped pups. Behind all this puppy pilfering is one of the all-time great Disney villainesses—beastly Cruella De Vil, who, with her bumbling henchmen Horace and Jasper, intends to make a fur coat out of the Dalmatians' hides.

In conjunction with the commemoration of Earth Day on April 22, Nickelodeon offers a host of environmentally themed programs this week. The best of the batch begins on Saturday with Letters to the Earth, a compilation of video letters from concerned children around the world. The program is repeated Sunday night and followed by Plan It for the Planet, a half-hour overview of the Kids World Council, an "ecological summit" being held this week in Orlando, Fla.

Dogged Cruella De Vil is on the trail of "101 Dalmatians"

The Cartoon Network celebrates Earth Day with a Captain Planet Marathon, 24 hours of cartoons starring the environmental superhero and beginning at 6 A.M. [ET].

Square One Television goes prime time again this week with a Mathnet Special called "The Case of the Smart Dummy." Partners Pat Tuesday and George Frankly use their math expertise to solve the mystery of a ventriloquist's missing wooden sidekick. The special airs Sunday on many PBS stations.

On CBS Thursday there's an animated double feature, one stars some legendary Warner Bros. cartoon characters and the other introduces a new cartoon hero. The first, Bugs Bunny's Bustin' Out All Over, is a collection of spring-themed cartoons featuring the wascally wabbit, Elmer Fudd, Wile E. Coyote and the Road Runner. That's followed by The Magic Paintbrush, an enchanting tale about a courageous lad named Nib who helps an elderly man, and as a reward is given a paintbrush that brings to life any subject he paints.

Saturday GUIDELINES

☐ CBS begins its 16-game regular-season Baseball slate (and the final year of its baseball contract) as the Mets meet the Reds in Cincinnati (on Ch. 2) and the Boston Red Sox host the Chicago White Sox (on Ch. 3). —1 PM

☐ Senior Golf: The PGA Seniors Championship, telecast from the PGA National Golf Club in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. The defending champion: 1992 Senior Tour Player of the Year Lee Trevino. —1 PM (4) (30)

☐ "The Earth has been around for billions of years and we've managed to trash her in just 100," laments a youngster in one of the Letters to the Earth videos. But mostly, these videos suggest ways to clean up the planet. —6 PM (NIK)

☐ Movie: Solid Disney animation, a creepy villainess, and, litter-ally, "One Hundred and One Dalmatians" mark this appealing ★★★ doggie treat from 1961. —7:05 PM (DIS)

☐ Movie: Marisa Tomei's Oscar-winning performance as Joe Pesci's brassy fiancée highlights "My Cousin Vinny" ★★★, an enjoyable 1992 comedy about an inexperienced Brooklyn lawyer (Pesci). See the Close-up on p. 122. —8 PM (HBO)

☐ A fascinating World of Discovery visits "Bikini: Forbidden Paradise." Beginning in 1946, the Pacific atoll was ground zero for U.S. nuclear-weapons tests, and the resulting radiation left the island "too hot to set foot on" for decades. —9 PM (7) (8)

☐ Sinbad Live from the Paramount marks the actor-comedian's second HBO Comedy Hour. —10 PM (HBO)

MY COUSIN VINNY

Marisa Tomei and Joe Pesci

Joe Pesci and Supporting Actress Oscar winner Marisa Tomei star in this 1992 comedy about a bumbling Brooklyn lawyer who gets his first case when a relative runs into trouble down South.

While traveling through Wahzoo City, Ala., Bill Gambini (Ralph Macchio) and his college buddy Stan (Mitchell Whitfield) are arrested, and a misunderstanding causes Bill (who thinks he's been charged with shoplifting a can of tuna) to unwittingly confess to the murder of a convenience-store clerk. Fortunately, Bill notes, "We got an attorney in the family . . . my cousin Vinny." Unfortunately, the leather-clad lawyer (Pesci) has been in practice less than six weeks when he arrives in town with his feisty fiancée, Mona Lisa (Tomei). "I bet the Chinese food here is terrible," she tells him. But the local cuisine is the least of Vinny's problems. Before he can defend "the two yoots," Vinny must familiarize himself with courtroom procedure—or else risk incurring the wrath of an impatient Southern judge (Fred Gwynne).

Rated R: Strong language. Directed by Jonathan Lynn. Trotter: Lane Smith. Gibbons: Austin Pendleton. Sheriff: Bruce McGill. (2:00)

Sunday GUIDELINES

☐ Stanley Cup Playoff hockey returns to network TV with this first-round game. —1 PM (7) (8)

☐ Day One devotes the hour to a chilling profile of serial killer Jeffrey Dahmer, whose murders were uncovered in 1991 when an intended victim escaped and alerted the Milwaukee police. Included are comments from psychiatrists. —8 PM (7) (8)

☐ Linda Ellerbee hosts Plan It for the Planet, a recap of happenings at this week's Kids World Council, an ecological summit being held in Florida. The summit's theme is energy, or more specifically how to save energy and become energy efficient. —8 PM (NIK)

☐ Movie: Christian Slater, Patrick Dempsey, Richard Grieco and Costas Mandylor head the hunky cast of 1991's "Mobsters," a derivative ★★ crime yarn that tries to do for the gangster genre what the "Young Guns" films did for Westerns. —9 PM (4) (30)

☐ Movie: Roseanne and Tom Arnold test dramatic waters and perform swimmingly in "The Woman Who Loved Elvis" ★★★, an offbeat 1993 teleplay about a proud, impoverished mother trying to raise two daughters without much help from her estranged husband. The film was sensitively directed by Bill Bixby and shot on location in Ottumwa, Iowa. See the Close-up on p. 145. —9 PM (7) (8)

☐ So Many Miracles is producer Saul Rubinek's affecting document of his parents' survival of the Holocaust and their return to Poland some 40 years later to revisit the farming family that hid them from the Nazis. —10 PM (13)

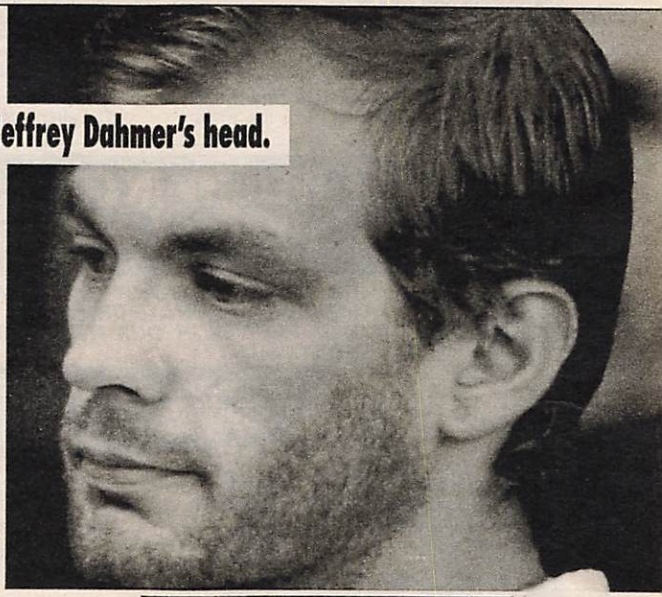
Kim Wayans is featured as Grace Jones in



Tonight, get inside Jeffrey Dahmer's head.

Everyone knows Jeffrey Dahmer was a murderer with a passion for the unthinkable.

Tonight, you'll find out why.

From his childhood friends. His prom date. His army buddies.

And, most chillingly, from Jeffrey Dahmer's own words.

What made him a monster? Why wasn't killing enough?

In a bizarre way, it's a story about love.

- Start off by picking any 6 CDs right now—tell us which 6 you want on the application—and we'll send them right to your home.
- You agree to buy just one more selection in the coming year, at our regular Club prices: currently $12.98 to $16.98—and you may cancel your trial membership at any time after doing so. (A shipping and handling charge will be added to each shipment.)
- 3 MORE FREE! After buying just one selection at regular Club price during the year, you are then entitled to 3 MORE CDs FREE. So it all adds up to 10 for the price of one! And that's it—there's nothing more to buy, ever!
- Free Music Magazine sent every four weeks (up to 13 times a year), describing the Regular Selection for your listening interest, plus hundreds of alternates. And Special Selection mailings up to six times a year (a total of up to 19 buying opportunities).
- Buy only what you want! If you want the Regular or Special Selection, do nothing—it will be sent automatically. If you'd prefer an alternate selection, or none at all, just mail the response card always provided by the date specified.
- You always have 10 days to decide; if not, you may return the Selection at our expense.
- New "Buy More—Pay Less" Bonus Plan. If you continue your membership after fulfilling your obligation, you'll be eligible for our money-saving bonus plan. It lets you buy one CD for as little as $3.99 (or a single cassette free) for each CD you buy at regular Club price.
- 10-Day Risk-Free Trial. We'll send details of the Club's operation with your introductory package. If not satisfied, return everything within 10 days and you will have no further obligation.
- If the application is missing, just write to: Columbia House, 1400 North Fruitridge Avenue, Terre Haute, Indiana 47811-1129.

THE WOMAN WHO LOVED ELVIS

Roseanne Arnold (pictured) plays it straight—mostly—as the title character in this quirky 1993 TV-movie.

Based on Laura Kalpakian's novel Graced Land, the drama unfolds in Ottumwa, Iowa, a rural town where a poor, good-hearted woman named Joyce Jackson (Arnold) is raising two daughters, ages 9 and 14, in a house she has whimsically turned into an Elvis Presley shrine. Nicknamed "Heartbreak Hotel," the house was once also home to Joyce's husband, Jack (Tom Arnold), an easygoing ex-con with whom she still has a relationship—even though he now lives some miles away with another woman, the unwed mother of his two young sons.

Into this tangle comes an unlikely soul mate for Joyce—her new welfare caseworker (Cynthia Gibb), a troubled yuppie whose own love life is getting uncomfortably complicated. (2:00)

Monday GUIDELINES

☐ Travels: Guyana, which means the "land of many waters," is the port of call as writer Preston King goes "Up-river Through Guyana"—a trek he accomplishes by steamer, speedboat and minibus. —8 PM 13

☐ Movie: Audrey Hepburn's final big-screen performance in the supporting role of an angel highlights Steven Spielberg's "Always," a ★★ 1989 remake of the popular 1943 fantasy "A Guy Named Joe." —8:30 PM 7 8

☐ From January: Murphy Brown worries that she hasn't spent enough "quality time" with Avery, so she decides to host a children's play group with Avery's peers and their moms. —9 PM 2 3

☐ Movie: Louis Gossett Jr. and Blair Underwood lend conviction to the title roles of "Father & Son: Dangerous Relations," a ★★ 1993 TV-variation on the age-old battle of the generations. In this film, both father and son are cons on parole. Watch for The Mod Squad's Clarence Williams III in a small role near the outset. —9 PM 4 30

☐ Medicine at the Crossroads takes an incisive look at surgical procedures to treat heart disease in "Random Cuts." The following hour, "The Magic Bullet," studies the history of drugs and "medicine's search for the quick fix." —9 PM 13

☐ A down-on-his-luck former Soviet spy (David Hemmings), a tenacious young health inspector, and a visit from the Grim Reaper highlight this offbeat Northern Exposure repeat, in which Maurice's past comes back to haunt him as he writes his memoirs. —10 PM 2 3

The pride and joy of the Blackfoot tribe.

Doll shown much smaller than actual seated height of approximately 10."

A porcelain collector doll designed by one of America's foremost Western artists.

Gregory Perillo's spectacular paintings of Native Americans grace the walls of many prestigious museums and private homes. One of his most famous paintings is "Brave and Free," which portrays a proud youth of the Blackfoot tribe. Now, Perillo brings this young Blackfoot to life in a captivating collector doll—Brave and Free.

Superbly sculpted... enchantingly lifelike.

Expertly sculpted, Brave and Free is remarkably lifelike. Just look at the gently rounded cheeks and artfully sculpted mouth...and those big brown eyes framed by tiny, hand-applied eyelashes. The doll's head, arms and legs are handcrafted of fine bisque porcelain and the lifelike facial features are skillfully painted by hand. As your assurance of authenticity, Perillo's signature will appear on the back of your doll. You will also receive a serially-numbered Certificate of Ownership with your doll.

Tuesday GUIDELINES

☐ Elvis lives—on this week's Quantum Leap, at least, when Sam leaps into the King's body. It's 1954, and Elvis is on the verge of being discovered. Scott Bakula provides the vocals. —8 PM (4) (30)

☐ When asked which filmmakers he admired, Orson Welles once said, "I like the old masters. By which I mean John Ford, John Ford and John Ford." Ford, winner of four Best Director Oscars, is profiled on Biography. Included are clips from Ford's 112 films. —8 PM, 12 mid. [Early Wed.] (A&E)

☐ Movie: The conclusion of "The Fire Next Time," a ★★ 1993 TV-drama, transports the Louisiana family headed by Craig T. Nelson and Bonnie Bedelia on a crowded barge up the Mississippi in search of relief from the devastating effects of global warming. En route, the family experiences a tragedy. —9 PM (2) (3)

☐ Tribeca: Richard Kiley, Betty Buckley, Jeff DeMunn and Lisa Eichhorn star in a fanciful episode about two men and their unfulfilled dreams. —9 PM (5) (61)

☐ A Frontline repeat from 1985 features the sobering 1945 film "Memory of the Camps," which consists of grim footage shot at Bergen-Belsen and other Nazi death camps when they were liberated in 1945. —9 PM (13)

☐ Gina's yearnings to share her Jewish heritage could bring changes on the Homefront for Charlie. Tonight's thoughtful episode also finds Al pounding the pavement in search of another job; Abe and Gloria more anxious than ever to get out from under the controlling thumb of the Sloans. —10 PM (7) (8)

Wednesday GUIDELINES

☐ Earthkeeping surveys environmental-protection efforts around the Nation. The hour, geared to Earth Day, is the first of four quarterly specials. —8 PM (13)

☐ Chuck Norris tackles series television as Walker, Texas Ranger, and in his first scene he singlefootedly takes down four armored-car robbers. —9 PM (2) (3)

☐ An insightful First Person with Maria Shriver explores the impact of domestic discord on children. —9 PM (4) (30)

☐ Reports of recent anti-Semitic incidents in both Eastern and Western Europe illustrate the persistence of The Longest Hatred, the subject of this probing 1991 documentary. The program attributes much of this behavior to the failure of communism and the resurgence of ethnic nationalism. See the Close-up on p. 197. —9 PM (13)

☐ Dana Elcar, who lost his sight to glaucoma while playing Peter Thornton in the MacGyver series, turns in a compelling performance as an embittered blind man on Law & Order. —10 PM (4) (30)

☐ Movie: Although "masala" is a term used to describe a mixture of hot spices, the ★★★ 1991 comedy-drama "Mississippi Masala" is a gentle, sensitive look at interracial love between an African-American and an East Indian. Denzel Washington and Sarita Choudhury star as the troubled romantics. —10 PM (MAX)

HERE'S HOW THE CLUB WORKS:

- Get 9 for the Price of 1! Start by choosing 5 FREE CDs or cassettes from this ad. Then buy just 1 selection at regular Club prices (currently $14.98 and up for CDs, $8.98 and up for cassettes) within a year. As soon as we receive your payment, you'll get a certificate good for your choice of 3 more hits FREE! Shipping and handling charges are added to all shipments. The BMG Music Service is unlike other clubs which make you buy 6 CDs or 8 cassettes at full price to complete your commitment.
- 10-Day Trial! Along with your 5 introductory selections, you'll receive a "Welcome Package" with complete details on how the Club works. Enjoy your introductory selections for 10 days. If you are not completely satisfied, you may return them without any further obligation.
- Club Music Mailings
  - About every three weeks (19 times a year), you'll receive our exclusive Club catalog which contains hundreds of selections from which to choose.
  - Each issue highlights a Featured Selection from your preferred music category. If you'd like the Featured Selection, do nothing and it will be sent to you automatically. If you prefer an alternate selection, or none at all, simply return the Notification Card enclosed with each issue of your magazine by the date specified on the card.
  - You have at least 10 days to return the Notification Card. If you do not want the Featured Selection, and do not have 10 days, you may return the Featured Selection at our expense.
- Enjoy Instant Bonuses! With every CD you buy at regular Club price, you get another at 50% off!
- Stay a member as long as you like. After joining the Club, you'll enjoy additional sales and discounts on your favorite music. However, after you pay for your regular-Club-price selection, you may cancel your membership simply by writing to us.
- If the reply card is missing, please write to: BMG Music Service, P.O. Box 91001, Indianapolis, IN 46291-0002

DRAMATIC IMPROVEMENT IN TREATMENT FOR THINNING HAIR AND BALDNESS

The Journal of the AMA reports male baldness may dramatically increase the risk of heart attacks in men. A recent issue of the international medical journal Advances in Therapy describes a dramatically improved treatment for men and women suffering from thinning hair and baldness. Men's magazines and news magazines have also featured this treatment.

The treatment was developed by Dr. Adam Lewenberg, a NY physician who was an early pioneer in the use of minoxidil to reverse baldness. Among Dr. Lewenberg's patients, growth of new hair was reported by 80% of males who were bald no more than seven years prior to treatment and 90% of females (regardless of the onset of baldness) after one or two treatments. Thickening of existing hair began in just 60 to 90 days. Dr. Lewenberg's method, using a safe convenient spray containing Upjohn's Rogaine® - Minoxidil combined with Tretinoin and a vitamin-mineral supplement, has proven 4 times more effective than minoxidil alone, according to published reports.

The treatment is remarkably effective at reversing frontal baldness and on top of the head and maintenance requirements are significantly reduced.

For information call Dr. Lewenberg at:

A neo-Nazi at a 1991 rally in Halle, Germany.

Examining anti-Semitism: its ancient roots and its recent resurgence in Europe. The fall of communism and the economic hardship that has accompanied it have led to new outbreaks of anti-Semitism in Europe. This 1991 documentary looks at why this old prejudice hasn't died, and explores how problems between Christians and Jews evolved between the time of the Roman Empire and the Reformation of the 16th century. The program also recalls the Holocaust, and examines Muslim anti-Semitism stemming from the Arab-Israeli conflict. (2:30)

Thursday GUIDELINES

☐ Pamela Reed and Sara Gilbert lend their voices to a repeat of The Simpsons, in which Reed portrays a divorcée, and Gilbert plays her daughter, a beautiful, smart and funny 15-year-old who captures Bart's heart. The plot revolves around his plans to eliminate her boyfriend. —8 PM 5 61

☐ Earth and the American Dream, HBO's arty Earth Day documentary, uses archival materials, film clips and readings by celebrities to chronicle how Americans have followed the Bible's instruction to "fill the earth—and subdue it" since the arrival of Christopher Columbus. —8 PM HBO

☐ TNT winds up its regular-season NBA Basketball slate this week. Tonight: a Suns-Trail Blazers encounter in Portland. —8 PM TNT

☐ The Magic Paintbrush is a delightful animated adaptation of Robin Muller's children's book, about a boy who's able to make his paintings come alive. —8:30 PM 2 3

☐ Wings offers an episode from earlier this season in which an intriguing secret about Alex has Nantucket abuzz. —8:30 PM 4 30

☐ Everybody is kung-fu fighting on a wacky Martin in which the guys are taken down a peg when they're beaten up by a gang of diminutive hoodlums. —8:30 PM 5 61

☐ On an outrageous Cheers, Frasier gets Woody on the ballot for city council as part of a bar bet, but the gang decides to run his campaign in earnest. —9 PM 4 30

Love begins to bloom for Belle and the Beast. A Bradford Exchange recommendation.

"Love's First Dance"
Rated a top market prospect by the Bradford Exchange

The Beast once inspired terror in Belle. Now he inspires something else. As they glide across the grand ballroom dancing, the Beast's generous and noble heart captures Belle's own. Could this be love at last? Now you can recall the drama of Disney's Beauty and the Beast with a fine porcelain collector's plate from Knowles China inspired by this delightful film. The "Love's First Dance" plate is available now—and it looks like a smart buy. Here's why it's a Bradford Exchange recommendation:

The "Love's First Dance" plate is an important first issue, the first plate in the Beauty and the Beast plate collection from Edwin M. Knowles China, an affiliate of the Bradford Exchange.

It's an impressive work of art, featuring original artwork by Disney artists. Attesting to its importance, each plate will be hand-numbered and accompanied by a corresponding hand-numbered Certificate of Authenticity.

The "Love's First Dance" plate has the potential to appreciate in value, because the edition is limited to a maximum of 150 firing days. Once the edition closes, collectors' demand could exceed the supply of plates and force asking prices up.

The Bradford Exchange—picking winners since 1973. Worldwide, limited-edition plates are the only collectibles traded on an organized exchange. And with offices in the United States and eleven other countries, Bradford is at the very heart of this exciting international market. That means Bradford analysts can often spot trends in the making.

If, for example, you had followed one of our major recommendations in 1988, you would have bought the first issue in the Knowles Cinderella plate series, at just $29.90—a plate that last traded at $90.00.* Or, if you had acquired the second plate in this exceptional collection, you would now own a plate that last traded at more than three times its 1989 issue price.

Like any marketplace subject to the laws of supply and demand, the plate market is constantly changing. Some exceptional plates appreciate in value; some plates go down, and many remain at or near issue price. But right now, Bradford Exchange analysts rate the "Love's First Dance" plate as one of the year's top prospects...and we'll back up your purchase with our unconditional 365-day guarantee.

You risk nothing with the Bradford Exchange unconditional 365-day guarantee. Within one full year after you receive your plate, you may return it to us if for any reason you are not completely satisfied. We will issue you a refund for everything you have paid, including postage.

Send no money now. To acquire the "Love's First Dance" plate at its $29.90 issue price—backed by our 365-day guarantee--simply fill out and mail the coupon below or write us at: The Bradford Exchange, 9345 Milwaukee Avenue, Niles, Illinois 60714-1393. You will be billed in two convenient monthly installments.

But don't delay. The time to get the "Love's First Dance" plate is now—before it has a chance to increase in value.

*Reflects last trades on the exchange as reported in the Bradford Exchange Market Report, Volume IV-11.

who hosts the annual Oscarfest. It is still the most boring show in the world. I watch it only because of my love of movies. Otherwise, it's only to see what the actresses are wearing (or not wearing) and who's with whom. I'd give anything if they'd just cut all the idle chatter (and Crystal's comic relief) and get to the point. The show would be an hour long and I'd be satisfied.

Perot's campaign? Save His Show

Re "Perot Stages a Living-Room Referendum" [March 20].

Why do the media infer that when a person spends his own money to express his views, he's on an ego trip—yet when he spends our tax dollars, he's civic-minded?

Wake up. We're not all as dumb as you think. For an honest comparison, tell us how much Clinton spent touring the country to gain support for his proposals. Hooray for Perot and all who care enough about their government to watch his show and vote.

Insulin found in genetic code

In response to your reader's concern about the manufacture of insulin and animal rights ["Mary Opens Up," March 13 and "Letters," April 3], drug companies obtain the insulin hormone from pancreases of pigs and cattle already being processed as food.

Today, the majority of diabetics in the U.S. and worldwide have shifted to using human insulin, manufactured through recombinant DNA technology.

TV GUIDE'S MOVIE RATINGS

For our readers' guidance, TV GUIDE rates movies excellent (★★★★), good (★★★), fair (★★) or poor (★). Our evaluations are based on a number of factors, including a consensus of leading critics, quality of cast and director, awards earned and box-office performance. TV GUIDE does not evaluate movies (signified by an absence of symbols) if a rating might be premature (example: an unscreened TV-movie) or pointless (example: a formula B-Western), or if too few facts are known (example: a minor foreign film). Movies may be edited for television; our ratings are based on the original, complete film.

TV GUIDE'S MOVIE RATINGS

For our readers' guidance, TV GUIDE rates movies excellent (★★★★), good (★★★), fair (★★) or poor (★). Our evaluations are based on a number of factors, including a consensus of leading critics, quality of cast and director, awards earned and box-office performance. TV GUIDE does not evaluate movies (signified by an absence of symbols) if it might be premature (example: an unscreened TV-movie) or pointless (example: a formula B-Western), or if the criteria can't be applied because too few facts are known (example: a minor foreign film). Movies may be edited for television; our ratings are based on the original, complete film.

PARENTAL GUIDANCE

The official MPAA content rating (G, PG, PG-13, R or NC-17) is provided for every film that has received one (NR: not rated). We also offer advisories about content (adult themes, sexual situations, strong language, violence, nudity or partial nudity), but parents should be aware that films containing adult themes or sexual situations frequently involve nudity, even though our advisory may not explicitly say so.

Horoscope

By Patric Walker

ARIES (March 21-April 20): Take the fullest possible advantage of a New Moon in the practical and astute sign of Taurus on Wednesday to seek expert advice. Both personal and financial problems will be solved as soon as you lay everything on the line and stop imagining that you have let yourself down.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21): All the Earth signs are much more sensitive than others realize—but Taureans in particular need constant reassurance. Now, however, a brilliant New Moon in your own birthsign on Tuesday signifies, firstly, that forgiveness is another word for letting go, and secondly—it isn't the load that weighs us down—it's the way we carry it.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21): What took place last week when the Sun in Aries was challenged by both Neptune and Uranus appears to have knocked you sideways. However, if you are a typical Gemini, then any threats to your security will be met with such force others are certain to regret taking your good nature for granted.

CANCER (June 22-July 23): The important thing to remember this week is that Wednesday's New Moon falls in an extremely sensitive area of your solar chart. Therefore, you must be prepared to bite your tongue and make any number of concessions to ensure that one particular tie, involvement, or close association is not strained beyond its limits or injured beyond repair.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23): Since Wednesday's New Moon takes place at the mid-heaven point of your solar chart, your first reactions to some kind of offer may be to question others' motives, sincerity, and integrity. However, by the end of the week you will realize that personally, professionally, and financially, you are likely to be better off in a completely different environment.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23): Because Wednesday's New Moon occurs in that part of your solar chart related to travel plans, you really must take stock. On no account say anything that might lead colleagues to believe that you are no longer prepared to enter into long-term contracts.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23): Having turned on the charm, stifled your emotions, and behaved impeccably to no avail, you must now put on the pressure and, if necessary, resort to taking legal action when dealing with financial matters. Otherwise, you could be placed in an embarrassing position this week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22): Over the next four weeks or so, the Sun in your opposite sign of Taurus has the power to reverse all the negative or dreary trends of the past few months. Therefore, no matter how often you have been rejected, this time around you should be agreeably surprised by what is offered.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21): The moment has come to jump in at the deep end and not allow anyone to convince you that your ideas are impractical. You have made all the right moves and approaches recently and one particularly reassuring planetary influence now signifies that adequate financing is available.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20): On no account resort to using unorthodox methods in an attempt to outsmart others over the next month while the Sun in Taurus is at odds with Pluto in Scorpio. Your situation is liable to change and there is no way to predict the outcome of what can only be described as a power struggle.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19): A long period of separating, analyzing, and mental spring-cleaning has finally drawn to a close. Therefore, what takes place soon after Wednesday's New Moon in the brutally honest and down-to-earth sign of Taurus can only free you from costly associations.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20): To imply that there are those who are hoping that you will take a tumble may sound rather way-out and far-fetched. However, the Sun in one of the most sensitive areas of your solar chart opposed by Pluto during the next few weeks signifies that this is very much a time of intrigue or power struggles and that you simply cannot afford to miss a trick.
